UN FORCES BEATEN BACK IN BITTER CONGO BATTLE

We'll Fight To the End —Tshombe

The following statement was issued by Katanga President Moïse Tshombe on Thursday in Elisabethville, Katanga.

By PETER YOUNGHUSBAND

ELISABETHVILLE (UPI)—President Moïse Tshombe of Katanga told me Thursday in an interview: "We will fight to the last man—to the last drop of blood for our right to live as a free country."

President Tshombe told me this in a small villa situated in the grounds of his official residence here as mortar shell explosions and machine-gun fire rocked Elisabethville.

I was astonished when a Belgian settler told me that Tshombe was not in hiding as reported but was still in his residence—and offered to take me there.

I went and found the residence heavily defended by troops with machine guns in the gardens and armored cars in the road outside.

WON'T RUN AWAY

The president, haggard and eyes bloodshot from lack of sleep, said: "Did you think I would run away when my soldiers are fighting and dying for their country? We will fight to the bitter end and if necessary the last battle will be here in my home and I will be part of it."

STILL CHARMING

President Tshombe was still immaculately dressed and charming as usual, despite his obvious fatigue. He said he was prepared to negotiate with the United Nations for a cease-fire if they would withdraw from the centre of the city and refrain from attacking his troops and leave him to settle his affairs with the central Congo government in his own time.

LIED TO ME

"They have lied to me and have murdered my people. I appeal to the free world—to Britain, to France, to America—to all nations who treasure the principles of freedom and the right of a people to self-determination—to bring this terrible thing to an end."

Later, in a radio broadcast over a secret radio which is hidden in the bush near Elisabethville, Tshombe repeated his defiant decision to fight on.

TERROR TOWN

Yesterday I found Elisabethville a terror town of shattered buildings and deserted streets, where bullets whine and riotous.

Settlers have taken arms and joined in the fighting on the side of Katanga troops. Led by a tough nucleus of former white officers in the Katanga gendarmerie, who evaded the United Nations' expulsion order by hiding in the bush, Katanga troops supported by armored cars and mortars, counter-attacked the central post office now held by UN troops.

BEIGIAN VOLUNTEERS

Belgian settlers who have armed themselves to the teeth and joined the Katanga army in the fight for Katanga's freedom include former war veterans and police officers.

Other civilians are organizing food and water supplies to the troops. All Elisabethville's hospitals are filled with wounded men.

I visited Katanga radio station, which is now nothing more than the blackened shell of a building, doorless and windowless with smashed radio equipment, furniture, telephones, steel helmets and boots all lying in a jumbled mess.

Outside I counted 13 corpses still lying in the grass nearby.

Harkness Called Liar In Row on Jet Costs

OTTAWA (CP)—An angry Paul Hellyer Thursday in the Commons accused Defence Minister Harkness of "lying again." He was finally forced to withdraw the remark but added: "I reserve the right to vindicate what I have said."

Later, the Liberal defence critic said the Commons can't rely on the information given it by Mr. Harkness.

The dispute arose when Mr. Harkness said the Arrow jet interceptor program, cancelled in February, 1959, would have cost $12,500,000 per aircraft.

REPORT RECALLED

Mr. Hellyer, MP for Toronto Trinity, said Air Chief Marshal Frank Miller, chairman of the Canadian chiefs of staff committee, had testified before the Commons defence committee that the cost would have been $6,800,000 each.

"How can we have any faith in anything the minister says?"

PULLED BIG BOOB

He said the Canada-U.S. agreement under which Canada obtained 46 American Voodoo jet interceptors for the RCAF was "one of the biggest boobs ever pulled by a defence minister."

Under the agreement, Canada agreed to take over the training of some Pinetree radar stations in Canada from the U.S. put up $50,000,000 toward production of Star fighter planes for the U.S. mutual aid program and spend $10,900,000 for Voodoo spares.

FIGURES QUOTED

Mr. Hellyer said former defence minister Peckers had informed the Commons March 2, 1959, that the cost of taking over the Pinetree stations would be $430,000,000 a year.

In 10 years, the cost would be $4,300,000,000. Taken with the figures of $50,000,000 and $10,900,000, the entire cost was $49,000,000 or $7,400,000 for each Voodoo.

Mr. Hellyer said the Voodoo deal will cost more than continuation of the Arrow program would have.

ELISABETHVILLE (Reuters)—White-led Katanga forces wrested the initiative from United Nations troops with a fierce counter-offensive last night. Control of the breakaway province was in the balance as the situation rapidly went out of control in bitter and bloody fighting.

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—The United Nations Congo command said Thursday it moved to take control in Elisabethville largely because President Moïse Tshombe of secessionist Katanga province spurned a 24-hour warning to get rid of foreign officers.

It said the foreign personnel included:

- French expatriate officers who can't go home because of their part in the April generals' uprising in Algiers against President de Gaulle.
- Soldiers of fortune and other mercenaries.
- Volunteers recruited from among foreigners domiciled in The Congo who stayed on or returned to The Congo after Belgian colonial rule officially ended more than a year ago.

The report, signed by Sture Linner of Sweden, the UN chief in The Congo, was received by the office of Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld, who now is in The Congo on an inspection tour.

First Step Taken By Both Sides On Berlin Parley

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. state department said Thursday there now is informal agreement between East and West on preliminary negotiations on a solution of the Berlin crisis.

This news provided an at least mildly encouraging background for a Western foreign ministers meeting opening here Thursday.

Hailing Moscow's announcement that Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko is ready to meet with State Secretary Rusk in New York next week, press officer Joseph Reap said: "We are pleased that what we can probably find out what is in the Russian mind."

EXPLORATORY

He described the Rusk-Gromyko meeting as exploratory, rather than actual negotiation on the German dispute. He said the United States still is sticking to its provision that actual negotiations will be undertaken only by the Western allies acting together.

Reap said he saw agreement arising from public statements issued on both sides.

READY FOR TALKS

Thursday's Russian statement came less than 24 hours after Kennedy said the United States was ready to open "serious talks" with Russia as early as next week.

'Family' Censure Complete

ACCRA (CP)—Britain's Commonwealth partners expressed fear Thursday that United Kingdom membership in the Common Market "would fundamentally alter the relationship between the United Kingdom and Commonwealth countries."

The twelve other Commonwealth members took this strong stand in a communiqué issued after four hours of closed-door wrangling at the conclusion of the three-day Commonwealth economic ministers' conference.

Canadian Finance Minister Donald Fleming, emerging from the long meeting, said "on the whole we are quite well satisfied."

Colonist Island Fire Story Sparks Official Inquiry

Fire Scar Warning To Visitors

The fire that ravaged 800 acres of scenic slopes of Mount Tsumi may fulfill a useful purpose, a forest service official said yesterday. He said the blackened scar may act as a more effective reminder to visitors coming to Vancouver Island of the dangers of forest fire than any signpost.

TAKEOVER HAILED

In Blantyre, capital of Nyasaland, nationalist leader, Dr. Hastings Banda hailed the UN takeover in Katanga.

All Belgian newspapers condemned the UN action, and in London, the right-wing Daily Express declared: "Not since Hitler has there been as cold-blooded aggression as that launched by the United Nations against Katanga."

Lands and Forests Minister R. G. Williston confirmed yesterday that senior officials of his department are conducting an inquiry into the Vancouver Forest District's failure to call a water-bomber out for a blaze which blackened the south end of Salt Spring Island this week.

PILOT CONFIDENT

Alex Davidson, the pilot, recognized as Canada's most experienced fire-fighting flier, said that when he first sought orders from the forest service the single Avenger plane at his disposal could have held the tiny blaze in check until a ground crew got in to mop up.

BLAZE JUMPED

Earlier yesterday Vancouver Forest officials, under whose jurisdiction the fire-fighting task fell, were reported to have said the blaze jumped from 10 acres to 100 in a matter of minutes.

They added that the ranger on the scene thus reasoned that a water-bomber carrying 600 gallons "could not be effectively used because of the heat."

But pilot Davidson had said that when he first spotted the blaze and reported it to the forest service it covered less than a quarter of an acre.

"SIZE OF CAR"

His statement was backed up yesterday by the wife of a Honeymoon Bay logging company executive who sighted the fire from a beach on Cherry Point and reported it to the forest service office at Duncan.

Don Hammond, an official of Western Forest Industries, said his wife looked at the fire through binoculars "when it was about the size of a car."

He said his wife watched the blaze for about 1½ hours while it gradually increased in size to cover several acres.

Mr. Hammond termed "absolutely ridiculous" the forest service claim that from nothing the fire suddenly got beyond the stage where a water-bomber could control it.

By last night the blaze had covered 800 acres and forest officials said it was not under control but that it was "not out of control" either.

Fortune, 40 Birds Take Flight

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—An alert has been put out for a woman who is believed to be driving a 1961 car containing her 16-year-old daughter, about 40 birds, a Boston terrier and the $71,500 life savings of her husband.

Joseph Stephan, 71, a retired mining engineer, filed a grand theft complaint against Mrs. Albertine Elsie Stephan, 41, who he said absconded with $61,000 bills and 23 $500 bills.

"I worked 50 years to get that money," police quoted Stephan as saying. "She left me with only $37."

He told officers he had been married seven years and the entire time his wife tried to get him to convert his holdings to cash.

"I didn't trust her at first but finally consented," he said.

Police confirmed his statement that he got $20,000 in cash from Jerry Skarecky of Scottsdale for patents to a gold mining machine and withdrew another $30,000 from a Reno, Nev. bank. Stephan is offering a $1,000 reward for location of his wife and recovery of at least part of his money.

Stephan gave police a description of his wife, her car and her various traveling companions.

Death Toll in Hurricane Mounts to at Least 36

Robert Dunn, 15, of Freeport, Tex., saw hurricane Carla sweep his parents and nine other relatives away. He survived by clinging to a floating roof for three days. (AP Photofax.)

GALVESTON, Tex. (CP)—The death toll from hurricane Carla rose to at least 36 Thursday with reports of more bodies found, some drowned in severe rains set off by the storm.

Nine members of one family died near Freeport, Tex., in the hurricane. Three other members of the family are missing.

HUGE LOSSES

At a late hour, the death count was 25 in Texas, five in Kansas, one in Missouri and five in Louisiana from the hurricane itself, tornadoes it kicked up and other related causes.

Authorities still were unable to total up the losses along the 250-mile front where hurricane winds and tides rose highest. Galveston County Judge Pete Lavelle, estimated losses in his county alone at $111,200,000.

WATER POLLUTED

Water still covered a large portion of Texas City, a major industrial centre of 35,000 across from Galveston.

The Texas City water system remained polluted, and the sanitation, gas, electric and telephone systems were out. No one was permitted in the city except heads of households and relief workers.

Receding waters revealed that the entire business district of Kemah, a town of 550 in Galveston County, was washed away and all homes suffered damage.

Threats of disease, disrupted utilities, lack of water to drink and poisonous snakes made return to damage areas hazardous.

Reds Fire Powerful New Rocket

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union fired a new, powerful carrier rocket more than 1,100 miles into the central Pacific to within less than five-eighths of a mile from its target Wednesday.

The Soviet Union previously announced that the latest series of mid-Pacific rocket tests was to try out the more powerful and improved carrier rockets than those that blasted the two Soviet astronauts into orbit.

The fully mated, three-stage Saturn rocket was photographed for the first time yesterday at Cape Canaveral. The huge vehicle, to be flight-tested later this year, is expected to launch tons of instruments to the moon and Mars by 1965. (AP Photofax.)

Fleming Fearful On Trade

By DAVE OANCIA
Canadian Press

The Commonwealth Finance Ministers' Conference in Accra, as expected, has turned out to be a forum for cries of anguish over the mother country's decision to apply for European Common Market membership.

Authorities in London viewed the vigorous speeches by Finance Minister Fleming and Trade Minister Heeg essentially as restatements of the Canadian government's position.

ON SLIPPERY SLOPE

Fleming expressed the fear that Britain now was on a slippery slope and there was no possibility of withdrawal from negotiations with The Six.

He said Commonwealth ties would be weakened by any British action which adversely affected Commonwealth trade even though it benefited Britain. He urged that Commonwealth preferential access to the British market be maintained unchanged.

These speeches presage a tough watching brief on the course of talks due to open later this month on the British application.

"The finance ministers," said one London source, "wanted to make it clear that if their interests are threatened by possible membership, they'll scream blue murder."

WONT CHANGE PLANS

The anxieties expressed in Accra will not likely cause Britain to change her plans about negotiating with the community formed by France, Germany, Italy and the Benelux countries.

British Chancellor of the Exchequer Selwyn Lloyd tried to convince the Commonwealth ministers there is nothing incompatible in Britain joining The Six and maintaining her Commonwealth role.

He envisaged a Commonwealth prime ministers' conference before the conclusion of Britain's negotiations with The Six.

Peer's Forecast

Queen to Rule Over Europe?

MANCHESTER (Reuters)—A British peer said yesterday "gamblers might get good odds" that the Queen will be president of Europe 20 years from now.

Lord Altrincham, a severe critic of the monarchy who urges it should be liberalized, made the comment in an article in the Guardian of Manchester.

He was answering charges that British institutions, among them the monarchy, would suffer if Britain joined the six-nation European Common Market.

"To suppose for one moment that it (the monarchy) would suffer... is to believe that legal technicalities are more potent than the romantic instincts in human society, whereas, of course, the reverse is true," he said.

"Like so many of our national institutions it might benefit from a little foreign competition."

"If the head of the European community were to be elected from among the heads of member states, a healthy spirit of emulation might be fostered."

"Gamblers might get good odds for a bet that our Queen will be president of Europe 20 years from now."

Kennedy Wants Car Strike Settled by Next Week

DETROIT (UPI)—President Kennedy asked General Motors and the United Auto Workers yesterday to end by Monday the four-day old strike that has crippled production at GM and idled 250,000 workers.

The company and union replied that they were working hard toward a settlement.

The president said the nation cannot afford a "prolonged shutdown" in the vital auto industry just as the economy is emerging from a recession.

U.K. Protest Still On

Anti-Bomb Group to Defy Ban

LONDON (UPI)—Home Secretary R. A. Butler last night signed an order prohibiting an anti-nuclear sitdown demonstration Sunday in front of Parliament. The organizers, however, vowed to go ahead with plans for the rally.

The new move against the ban-the-bomb rally came only a day after 32 members of the sponsoring Committee of 100, including philosopher Bertrand Russell, were jailed on charges of inciting a breach of the peace.

A large area of central London around Parliament was declared off limits to the Committee of 100 which has called for 10,000 persons to sit down in Parliament Square to demand that Britain denounce nuclear weapons. As soon as the committee heard of the police plan, acting secretary of the Committee of 100, Pat Pottle, declared:

"The demonstration goes on. Our supporters will be informed of the steps. They are aware they are taking part in a serious movement."

Compromise Needed

IT IS BECOMING increasingly evident that until some federal-provincial compromise is reached there will be no possibility of development of hydro-electric power either from the Columbia or the Peace rivers.

Justice Minister Fulton, chief Ottawa spokesman on the subject, this week publicly expressed his view that for the good of Canada and B.C. the Columbia must be developed before the Peace.

He threatens that if the provincial government decides otherwise, Ottawa will block the Peace River development by refusing a permit under the Navigable Waters Act. Under this act no navigable waters may be dammed, diverted or otherwise altered, without federal permit.

Premier Bennett has not yet replied to this new federal threat to stall his power plans but has promised to do so in a speech he is to make tomorrow in Prince George. Meantime, however, Mr. Bennett has every intention of going ahead with the northern development, and of giving his green light to the Columbia Treaty only if Ottawa gives him permission to sell to the United States the Canadian share of the downstream benefits which under the treaty are to be brought back to Canada in the shape of power.

Mr. Fulton is equally emphatic that Ottawa will not allow the export of electrical power, although it is doubtful if the cabinet is unanimous on this point.

Mr. Fulton and other opponents of Mr. Bennett's plan in addition to opposing the principle of the export of electric power do not think it could be sold to the U.S. at a price which would be worthwhile to Canada.

On this point they could be wrong. Engineers say the Bonneville Power Authority will have to pay about 5.5 mills for any new power it may have to develop thermally.

If the storage dams on the Canadian portion of the Columbia are built then the extra energy resulting in downstream benefits would give Bonneville this power at a fraction of one mill.

Under the treaty, Bonneville would take half of this almost free extra power and it would grid the remainder to the international border for use in Canada.

If Mr. Bennett refuses to give the necessary water permit to dam the Columbia, then Bonneville will lose its cheap power. Thus if B.C. says it will go head with the Columbia on the condition that the U.S. buys the Canadian 50 per cent share of the extra power at six mills, the average to the United States for the whole of the downstream power benefits would work out at three mills—a chance which Bonneville could hardly reject.

If this is allowed to happen Mr. Bennett would use this source of income to subsidize the Peace River hydro-electric project which he claims is essential to the development of the northland.

The province would be faced with the tremendously expensive task of building two sets of dams—one on the Peace and the other on the Columbia—without much prospect of being able to utilize either, fully for many years to come.

Indeed the main weakness of the immediate development of both rivers simultaneously is that the three great dams on the Columbia—necessary if downstream benefits are to be collected either in cash or power—would remain merely storage dams for perhaps a quarter of a century, thus constituting a shocking waste of money and energy. If these dams were also equipped with generating plants they would provide enough electricity to meet B.C.'s estimated needs until 1985, and Mr. Bennett would lose his excuse of going ahead with the Peace until that time.

Both sides have their flaws, and it will be a tragedy for B.C. unless the province and the federal authorities forget their political differences and get together to build up a power program that is based solidly on economic facts and needs.

Word for Word

CONSIDER the meanings of the phrase, "to run down." It means to do just that—having dropped young Egbert's shirt while pinning it on the line, to run down and retrieve it from under the back porch. It means, in the case of the grandfather clock in the hall or old Flippington at the office who was such a bright spark ten years ago, to lose energy. It means to disparage—to point out, for instance, how much old Flippington has run down and slowed up.

It means to chase and capture a culprit, or look for and find an error or something missing. It means, for those who add from the top instead of from the bottom, to go through a column of figures. It means to do what cars do to pedestrians and liners do to fishing boats.

That, perhaps, is a complete rundown of the meanings of to run down except for one or two of the finer shades, such as to run down the street even if it's uphill (if the direction one takes is the one commonly known as down) and to run down to places from London even if they are slightly up north.

This phrase, however, is only one of many with a variety of meanings made clear, to speakers of English, by context and sometimes tone of voice. No one wanting to go to the public library but lacking transportation takes offence, nor fright, if an acquaintance says, "I will run you down."

But there is peril afoot in the wonderful world of electronics. Progress is being made, according to a report in The Times of London, in the development of machines to translate languages.

"Within a year in the United States, and perhaps a little longer in Britain," The Times says it was informed, "each of three groups would have machines that could read characters at a fast enough pace to be fed automatically into machines. Word for word translation was already possible but there was no great market for it—despite a statement by . . . Sir Gordon Sutherland, FRS, that he had got something from reading a recent word-for-word translation of Mr. Khrushchev."

The report quotes a spokesman for an American machine-translation group as saying that it will probably never be possible to translate literature or poetry by machine, and the reporter concludes, with restraint, "This may well be so."

But in the interests of international understanding, considering the funaround a machine is likely to have in trying to run down the true meaning of an English phrase and to run up an adequate translation, it possibly would be as well if the machines were confined to doing arithmetic, guiding missiles, running factories and making what they purport to be coffee.

"The one they've taken down over the piano was me with my old battalion at the Victory Parade."

The American Scene

Manning the UN Stockade

By CYRIL DUNN, from Washington

NOBODY of any importance in the U.S. government still clings to the hope that the problem of Communist China's admission to the United Nations may be postponed again. Unless some major upheaval thrusts everything else into limbo, we must expect to see this item on the agenda in New York this autumn.

Top people in the U.S. state department no longer suppose the famous moratorium on the Chinese question to be sustainable. The resigned shrug is now in fairly general use in the China Desk in the vast range of offices along 21st Street, even though the present secretary of state, Mr. Dean Rusk, may claim to have invented the delaying manoeuvre back in 1950 and would certainly be glad to pass the whole problem on to his successor unresolved.

Yet American opposition to China as a UN member remains implacable. There is nothing about which people of this country feel a deeper emotion, with the possible exception of Dr. Fidel Castro's continued existence as ruler of Cuba.

To some extent this is a part of the general American distaste for Communism. There are countless Americans who genuinely believe that letting China into the United Nations would mean a massive stride forward for an international conspiracy which threatens their survival. It is commonly supposed that this sentiment has been continuously nourished by the China Lobby, a vaguely defined pressure group often named as contributing generously to the campaign funds of Congressmen. But ordinary American resistance to the Chinese Communists springs also from deep, unanalysed sources and is a major force in foreign affairs because it is entirely sincere.

The fact seems to be that American policy towards China is virtually dictated by a traditional American feeling for the Chinese people. For generations now, reaching back pretty well to the age of Lincoln, the Orient has had a special meaning for Americans. Before the U.S. had acquired anything other than a contiguous empire of its own, China in particular was the wide field of endeavor for a kind of benevolent imperialism, inspired in its early days mainly by the American Protestant church.

It is, of course, true that trading went on as well. But among mature Americans there are many thousands who recall being cajoled as children out of their nickels and dimes to forward the well-being of the Chinese. There are also many direct links between the two continents. Henry Luce, the celebrated publisher of Time Magazine, for example, was born in China and many Old China Hands still grace the American scene.

Nor did the Americans fail to leave their affectionate mark on China itself. Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek is himself a Methodist of American conversion. In fact one scholarly friend of mine, reviewing this whole field of interpersonal relations, is sure that the emotions stirred up about India in the British boom by the works of Kipling are roughly equalled in anti-imperialist America by romantic recollections of China.

Since this feeling has survived the Communist triumph of Mao Tse-tung, it seems legitimate to ask who are now the object of this regard. Are they to be found with the Nationalists on Formosa or among the millions of Blue Ants on the mainland? If as is most likely, they are a combination of both from which the Communist overlords of all ranks alone are excluded, then it becomes difficult to understand why Americans should be so sternly resolved to exclude them from the United Nations.

It may be argued, though implausibly, that the UN is a gathering, not of peoples, but of governments. Even so, there are practical fringe benefits in the fields of health and technical service that flow through the member-governments to the common people and it would seem scarcely kind to exclude the Chinese from this help. Above all, if we assume the mass of the Chinese people to be the unhappy prisoners of a Communist regime, is it sensible to shut them off from contact with the world? For after all, if the Chinese Communists had a seat in the UN they might from time to time be compelled to advertise the plight of their people by defending it.

Arguments such as these are not current in the U.S. itself. People evidently prefer to entertain illusory hopes about the prospect of liberation for the Chinese and in this attitude get firm support from leaders who come here from Nationalist China. Vice-President Chen Cheng, a recent visitor, is in many ways an engaging personality.

The Nationalist vice-president continually wears a small, happy smile, as if all were going blissfully well with him, even when it patently isn't. This sanguine look may impart credibility to what he says, for those Americans who hear him. He told us, for example, that the Mainland Communists had been obliged to murder 20,000,000 opponents of the regime, and this he advanced as evidence that the regime is tottering on its base. We were assured that an invasion of the Mainland would quickly be followed by a popular uprising against the Communists and by the restoration of freedom.

Since predictions of a similar kind were offered to the White House before the invasion of Cuba, we may be reasonably sure that the vice-president's forecasts are accepted here only as evidence of a bold and unshaken spirit. But U.S. concern for the well-being of Nationalist China remains inviolate. Since delaying tactics are no longer enough to keep Communist China out of the UN, other means are being sought and will be used. One oblique device has already been tried and, escaping public notice altogether, very nearly came off.

The long debate on the Foreign Aid Bill was dragging wearily along in the U.S. Senate. With Mrs. Neuberger of Oregon in the chair and virtually nobody else in the Chamber except Senator William Fulbright, the bills pilot, the Republican Senator Styles Bridges of New Hampshire quietly offered an amendment. It was to the effect that no American funds should be given to any international organization of which Communist China was a member.

Wearied by many battles for objectives, more obviously vital, Senator Fulbright let it go through.

What this meant was, of course, that if Communist China were admitted to the U.N., millions of dollars contributed by the United States to all kinds of UN agencies and programs would be cut off at once.

Happily, the Bridges plan was killed when the Foreign Aid Bill was presented to the usual conference between the Senate and the House. But this may perhaps be taken as typical of the means now likely to be used by determined Americans to frustrate China and those who support her as a UN member. Few of them may be expected to enjoy official endorsement. The state department, for one, already has rough plans for a more orthodox approach and is hoping for encouragement from friendly nations.

The aim will be to have the admission of Communist China declared "an issue of substance." This could be done by a straight majority vote of the General Assembly and would take the matter above the procedural level and out of the hands of the credential committee and present it for decision to all the member-nations. Thereafter Communist China would need a two-thirds vote of the General Assembly to gain membership. It is evidently the present hope of the U.S. that in her opposition to the Communist China she may win the allegiance of "one-third plus one."

An Art Of Value

By GREGORY CLARK

IT WAS with some astonishment last spring that I heard from one of my fishing companions that he had fired his assistant manager in the small but profitable import agency he runs. Any time I had encountered the assistant manager, he seemed an extremely agreeable and energetic man.

"He was smart, all right," said my crony. "But he wasn't as smart as he thought he was."

"Well," I suggested, "he was a very pleasant sort of character."

"He was charming," said my friend, "but not as charming as he thought he was."

That was it! He was one of those people who are charming and work at it. They practice their charm. It is an art, to them, like the art of modelling clothes or figure skating. And it had got on my crony's nerves.

This week, I was astonished anew to find the former assistant back on the job.

"Well," said my fishing companion ruefully, "it seems a little charm is needed in this business. I was down about 12 per cent over last year, and the only reason for it I could think of was a lack of charm."

In Portugal's Colonies

Few Votes for Africans

By ELIZABETH MORRIS, from Lisbon

MANY Portuguese have been perplexed by the announcement of their minister for overseas, Dr. Adriano Moreira, that henceforth every native in their African territories of Angola, Mozambique and Portuguese Guinea would be a full citizen of Portugal.

For it had always been understood that since the law of 1952 which changed "colonies" into "overseas provinces," making them an integral part of Portugal, all Africans in these parts were already ranked as Portuguese.

What the minister's statement tries to do, in fact, is to make the 1952 act more plausible and, perhaps, more acceptable to the United Nations.

In future, African men and women in the Portuguese possessions will be given votes on the same terms as whites—that is, they must be able to read and write, be over 21 and be either the head of a household or a taxpayer.

Under this new regulation more Africans will be entitled to vote than under the old system but as only about one per cent of the 11,000,000 Portuguese Africans are literate the electoral registers will not be large. And the proportion of voters in Mozambique, where primary education is available to some 600,000 Africans, is likely to be higher than in Angola where fewer than 30,000 natives benefit from such education.

If full citizen status is in fact to be enjoyed by all Portuguese Africans then they will be called upon to surrender centuries-old tribal laws and accept the Law of Portugal. On the practicality of this even many regime supporters have misgivings, especially where it entails the loss of inheritance and the division of property.

The natives were not asked if they wanted to become Portuguese citizens. It is on record that some Africans have in the past refused to be classified as assimilated—a status granted to educated Africans which entitled them to the same privileges as other Portuguese citizens, including the right to vote.

The number of assimilated is about 100,000 or less than 1 per cent of the entire Portuguese African population, but under the new legislation the term should disappear.

A very welcome note introduced by the minister is the repeal of the "Statute of Native Labor," an act passed in 1954 which put the spurs to a galloping African nationalism both in Angola and Mozambique. The statute permitted the "contract labor" system whereby able-bodied Negroes were conscripted for public service or for work on plantations. They were paid about fifteen shillings a month plus board but less taxes.

New regulations are being introduced which will ensure that natives are paid minimum wages. These reforms are a long stride forward.

One disquieting reference by the minister was to the number of deputies from Angola and Mozambique to the National Assembly. It had been expected that the number from each province would be increased from the present three to a possible six or even seven at the forthcoming autumn elections. In fact there is to be no increase. This takes a lot of gloss off the "new deal," especially as the total number of deputies to the "all-white" National Assembly is being raised from 120 to 130 this autumn. As time is too short to allow for the compilation of a new electoral register, the minister said, only assimilated, apart from whites and mulattoes, would poll votes. However, it will be interesting to see if a precedent is set this year by the election of the first colored deputy to the National Assembly.

There are now between 25,000 and 30,000 troops in Angola whose turn is also coming to be "assimilated." According to Dr. Moreira, he advocated the creation of "Settlement Agencies" to encourage soldiers to make their homes in Angola and cultivate cereals, coffee and cotton. But the future for them does not look very bright. Although Portuguese troops are now in control of the towns and strategic points, a ragged army of natives, operating from the bush, refuses to be subdued and harasses the white population.

Dr. Moreira's reforms come at a time when he says "anarchy is being replaced by orderly progress." He is making a last desperate bid to end the war in Angola, which is draining Portugal's gold and foreign currency reserves to the tune of $5,125,000 every month. Portugal is far from bankrupt yet her reserves were over £250,000,000 earlier this year—but as every weapon, aircraft and motor vehicle must be purchased from abroad she is not geared to carry on a long war.

For Nasty Row

Decent Burial

By WILLIAM S. WHITE, from Washington

SOUTHERN conservative senators are preparing to give a decent burial to a nasty row involving the high military. It is a row which if not thus quietly put to rest could vastly harm the United States' whole defence structure amid a world crisis.

These men of great usefulness and great responsibility are Senators Richard B. Russell of Georgia and John C. Stennis of Mississippi. Russell is chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee. Stennis is one of its most influential members.

This committee is now making a preliminary inquiry to determine whether there should be an all-out "investigation" of charges by Senator Strom Thurmond of South Carolina that military officers are being "gagged" for being as Thurmond sees it, too vocally anti-Communist.

Those willing to follow the unavoidable complexities of this singular tale may be more able, at the end, to understand why calm Southern conservatives of the Russell-Stennis stamp are so indispensable to any Democratic White House, however liberal. True, they often vote on economic issues against any liberal Democratic president including the present one, John F. Kennedy.

But these are also precisely the men who will stand most steadfastly, and most effectively, for such a president on issues where more emotional issues threaten to provoke dangerous disarray within the very American government itself.

The present issue is just such an issue. In substance it is really a contest between the clashing extremist views of two other, and wholly untypical, Southern senators, Thurmond and J. W. Fulbright of Arkansas. Thurmond is so ultra-conservative as to make Russell and Stennis seem almost liberal. Fulbright actually votes most of the time at least as conservatively as do Russell and Stennis.

Nevertheless, most of the ultra-liberals here in their insatiable wisdom have long since adopted Fulbright as their hero. Why? Perhaps it is because they consider him "intellectual," and they believe "intellectuals" can hardly do any wrong.

Thurmond, himself a reserve major general, really believes that the military can hardly do any wrong. Fulbright is full of that excessive suspicion of military men so common to the sort of people who are convinced that you can win a cold war simply by talking a great deal and "negotiating" even more.

Some time ago Fulbright sent a "confidential" memorandum to the defence department complaining that high officers were promoting "radical right-wing" ideas. These followed a Pentagon order cutting down the participation of officers in political discussions.

But in the meantime, Fulbright's memo, however "confidential," had found its way into the papers. Thurmond raised a mighty howl that Fulbright's communication had led to the "muzzling" of officers, particularly in their role as strong anti-Communists.

If Fulbright's famous memo had not leaked out, no harm would have been done. For Defense Secretary Robert McNamara, a man of good sense, in fact already was finding a quiet means of keeping officers out of extremist politics without in any sense downgrading their right—and duty—to be profoundly anti-Communist.

But once Thurmond and Fulbright got into a public hullabaloo, though decent their separate motives were, only one way out was left. This was to let Russell and Stennis move in. They won't "white-wash" anything. They won't hide anything. But, depend upon it, they (and such conservative Republican associates as Senator Everett Ruess of Montana) will put a stop to this mess.

They will calmly and effectively settle it—away from spotlights and headlines, in a way fair to both sides and, above all, to prevent throwing the whole military establishment into a destructive and useless row.

For the minds of men like Russell and Stennis are more than merely decent. There are responsible minds. Minds aware that people in high political station owe the deepest obligations not to let their private likes and dislikes foul up this one.

Letters to the Editor

More Sensible

Your editorial of Sept. 12 pointed out the dangers of hysterical thought or action in the "hair-trigger" world of today. I certainly agree that a rational approach to world problems is one of our greatest needs, for in spite of anything we do war appears to be drawing steadily closer. It seems ridiculous that we follow such a suicidal path when no one really wants a nuclear war. And yet, we feel so ineffectual; we ask ourselves "What can we do—what can Canada do?"

Perhaps Canada would co-operate with such countries as India, Sweden and Australia to find new approaches to international problems. Proposals could be initiated at the United Nations to relieve tension and produce a climate favorable to the development of peace. In connection with this Canada would need a Department of Peace, doing original research in this field.

I cannot help feeling that this would be a far more sensible and positive approach than buying nuclear weapons or building bomb shelters.

R. MORTON,

Cowichan Station.

Hats Enough

It sure is nice to know that the government will be safe if there is a nuclear attack (re the $20,000,000 Diet-bunker).

On one day of the foreign affairs debate there were only 50 out of 265 members in attendance, with this kind of service they deserve nothing more than hard hats.

J. M. JAMIESON, JR.

2370 Pacific Street.

One Wonders

Referring to headline: "Money Pours Into Diefenbunker" in Colonist front page of Sept. 13, it tells of a fallout shelter costing $20,000,000 being built about 25 miles west of Ottawa. This is to "shelter" the prime minister, the cabinet, and some government and army officials. This with the suggested shelter for Oak Bay, the official suggestion for permit requests, the construction company soliciting contracts to build shelters, and the several hundred shelters built or being built, makes the puzzled, flabbergasted, average person wonder if our proclaimed "faith," our "in God we trust," a real or just hogwash.

Charity Appeals

After reading the statements in the Colonist regarding the attitude of the director of the Community Chest, United Appeal or whatever it is now called; concerning the Salvation Army and Red Cross, and that of the city finance committee regarding the request of the Goodwill Enterprises for tax exemption on their new buildings, I shall be happy to do all in my power to help the Salvation Army, the Goodwill Enterprises and the Red Cross and I feel sure that many others will feel the same way.

The statements made by the director of the Community Chest, United Appeal or whatever it is now called, will do more harm than good to their cause I sincerely feel.

A word on behalf of the Goodwill Enterprises. Apart from any financial benefit or otherwise, to the city, surely the fact that the Goodwill Enterprises is giving a good reason for existing, providing a new reason for living and a way for the handicapped to earn their own way, should be a good enough reason for the city to exempt the organization from taxation on any building of theirs.

However the city finance committee would not get enough profit from the handicapped if it exempted them from taxes. Too bad.

Bomb Shelters

Now the evacuation scheme in the event of a nuclear attack seems to be losing favor the public is being urged from certain quarters to start building bomb or fallout shelters. This suggestion brings to mind many questions unanswered and probably unanswerable. We are told the minimum time one must stay in the shelter is two weeks. How can a supply of water be maintained for two weeks and on the question of food much of it these days will not keep without refrigeration. Of what use will any refrigerator be if the power stations are out of commission?

Assuming a person can and does survive, what will confront him when he emerges from his shelter? Blasted vegetation, victims of the nuclear blast, contaminated water, and for anything we know unbreathable atmosphere.

From what we hear there seems little to recommend individual shelters. It seems to me the only thing for human beings to do in this state of uncertainty, is to follow the example of the king of ancient Nineveh, when destruction threatened his city. His command to his people was "Cry mightily unto God"—but he wisely adds what we as people would do well to heed—"Yea let them turn from their evil way, from the violence that is in their hands."

Washable Numeral Brings $5 Penalty

An Oak Bay resident who failed to have registration numbers painted on his pleasure boat was fined $5 when he pleaded guilty to the offence in Saanich police court yesterday.

John Thomas Martin, 2149 Florence, was checked Sept. 2 on Gorge waters, when no number was visible on his boat.

In the same court, Fred Moulson, 407 Davida, and Alec Murray, 476 Davida, were fined $25 each for being minors in possession of liquor. Both were found with beer in their possession.

Some 1,200 of B.C. Electric's 5,300 employees will lose their 25 per cent discount on gas and electricity bills after Dec. 1.

Discounts were part of the contracts now in force in the utility, which was recently taken over by the provincial government.

Employees who lose their discounts in December are supervisory and professional personnel and members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers who are currently negotiating for a new contract.

Employees belonging to other unions will lose their discounts as their contracts expire, said a company announcement.

Landmark Doomed

An old Victoria landmark now in the hands of the demolishers is the Silver Spring Brewery on Esquimalt Road. Opened in 1909, it is now owned by Lucky Lager Breweries and it was last used in 1957. Since then Silver Spring beer has been brewed at the company's main Victoria brewery on Government Street. The demolition of the old brewery is an economy move to save taxes.—(Colonist photo)

'Ex-Nazi' at High NATO Desk

Posting 'Immoral'

OTTAWA (CP)—H. W. Herridge (CCF—Kootenay West) Thursday described the appointment of Gen. Adolph Heusinger to a high NATO post as "strictly immoral" and said he should be replaced.

Mr. Herridge said Gen. Heusinger, chairman of NATO military representatives in Washington, was a wartime Nazi general named in Nuremberg war trial documents as being responsible for the massacre of "thousands" of partisans by Nazi troops in occupied countries.

Mr. Herridge said, the appointment was causing suspicion behind the Iron Curtain and "does our cause harm." Many Canadians objected to the appointment and veterans resented it.

Defence Minister Harkness replied that Gen. Heusinger in 1950 was named the chief military adviser to Chancellor Adenauer who was convinced of the general's "anti-Nazi antecedents."

J. M. Macdonnell (PC—Toronto Greenwood) said—Mr. Herridge was a reliable source of information and his statements warranted a "more adequate reply."

No More Cutbacks Transit Union Plea

TORONTO (CP)—Vancouver delegates to the Street Railway Employees International convention want an intensive drive against further reduction of public transit service in North America.

A resolution being submitted to the five-day convention this week says such cuts discourage use of public transportation and thus cause further cuts.

Another resolution demands a reduced working day and increased take-home pay. These demands are justified, says the resolution, by the increased strain on transit drivers caused by increased traffic, overcrowded buses and "almost complete" introduction of motor buses and trolley coaches.

Chairman's Rebuff 'Few Facts' At Probe Of Garages

OTTAWA (CP)—The restrictive trade practices commission Thursday concluded a 3½-day hearing on whether the consumer is harmed by certain service-station retailing practices of the major oil companies.

Commission chairman C. Rhodes Smith said the three main board had "hoped for more factual evidence" at the hearing which followed a seven-year inquiry under the Combined Investigation Act. Two, main policies were scrutinized. One called directed buying results when a company directs its retail outlet to buy goods only from specified suppliers, who usually pay a commission or "kickback" for these market-access agreements.

FULL-LINE FORCING

Another called full-line forcing happens when a company limits items on its retail outlet shelves to its own branded lines or goods it acquires for that purpose.

In the heated exchange of the hearing, groups representing automotive supply retailers and wholesaler manufacturer forces alleged that competition and product variety is lessened and consumer costs increased.

The oil companies denied this in submission by legal counsel and accused their attackers of largely hearsay testimony designed to catch headlines.

They urged caution in disturbing existing distribution patterns, which they said are

Shareholders 'Had Trouble' Seeing Luboff

REGINA (CP)—Russell McConnell of North Battleford, Sask., testified Thursday at the preliminary hearing of Walter Luboff of Saskatoon that he never succeeded in selling back his shares of Columbia Metals.

Luboff is charged with defrauding the public by misrepresentation of shares of Columbia Metals Exploration Company.

McConnell, a real estate man, testified that three times in 1956 he bought 1,000 shares from a salesman named Stanley Greenhorn.

McConnell said he went to Saskatoon to see Luboff but he had a hard time reaching him. Luboff was manager of Columbia Metals.

Francis J. Frey of Cudworth, Sask., said he went to Saskatoon to sell his stock back. He told Luboff, he said, that the salesman had told him he could get his money back. Luboff had replied he was not responsible for what salesman said.

However, Luboff did find a man in Saskatoon who appeared at the office and bought back 500 of his shares at $1.

Frey said.

Senators of both parties paid tribute to Ontario Liberal Senators William Euler and Joseph Brudette, whose combined service in the Commons and Senate totaled 79 years.

Murder Trial Told Of Pact for Alibi

VANCOUVER (CP)—A man told an assize court jury Thursday that Dieter Wilhelm Reim, 21, who faces a non-capital murder charge, went to his suite early March 21, saying "I killed somebody tonight."

Reim was charged in the knife slaying of hairdresser Barry Glazebrook, 27, in his West End Apartment. The victim was found by residents lying on a blood-spattered bed, a 10-inch butcher knife at his side.

Leo R. Moloughney, 20, who is being held at Oakalla Prison Farm pending theft trial, told the jury Reim came to his suite while he was asleep.

He said Reim told him he had stabbed Glazebrook four times and then took a shower in the apartment before leaving. Moloughney said Reim begged him to help in establishing an alibi and he agreed. Moloughney said they agreed they would say he (Moloughney) was with the accused in the victim's apartment. They had stabbed Glazebrook four times and then took a shower in the apartment before leaving. The next day they went to an RCMP office, which called Moloughney said, under cross-examination that he changed his story when told by police he could be charged in connection with the murder.

AN AIRCO FURNACE GIVES YOU MORE THAN HEAT!

Look for these important extras when you choose a furnace.

Most people give a lot of attention to choosing the clothes that they wear — the car that they drive — the home that they live in. But too many take the choice of a furnace for granted! Next to the roof over your head, there is no single thing that you can buy that will give you so much comfort, peace of mind and satisfaction, providing your choice is sound!

Any automatic furnace will give you heat. The big difference is how much heat it will provide, and at what cost.

Most new furnaces look good in the showroom. The differences only show up when the furnace has been in operation in your home for a while. Then it may be too late to change!

ARE YOU CONSIDERING A NEW FURNACE?

If you are thinking of changing your present heating system to one that is more modern and efficient, or if you are looking for a heating system for your new home, you are in good company. Several thousand other British Columbians are in the same position.

Some of them will be better satisfied with their new furnace than others. And those who will be most satisfied will have carefully examined not only the ability of the furnace to produce heat; they will have looked for the extra features that make their choice a sound investment for years to come.

CHECK THESE FEATURES BEFORE YOU BUY!

Here are the things you should look for when you are choosing a furnace. Experience through the years has proved that they are essential if you are going to get your money's worth from your purchase.

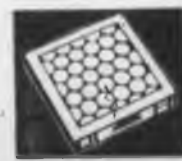

HEATING EFFICIENCY

Every gallon of heating oil or cubic foot of natural gas that you use contains a fixed amount of heat. But there is a big difference in how much of this heat your furnace will put to use, and how much it will waste. The difference is due to the basic design and construction of your furnace.

At Airco, staff engineers are constantly working on this problem of getting all the possible heat out of the fuel you use, and putting it to work in your home. Every development is thoroughly tested in the company laboratory.

While other manufacturers may adapt some of the Airco features to their particular design, only the Airco furnace has balanced engineering throughout, tested in the laboratory and in thousands of homes.

This means that every dollar that you spend on fuel buys the greatest possible amount of heat in your home. Airco's extra efficiency means big savings to you every year.

CLEAN HEAT

Both oil and gas are clean burning fuels when used in a properly made and adjusted furnace. This means that an exact balance of fuel, air and temperature must always be maintained.

Airco burners have many special features that guarantee this balance at all times.

Filters are another essential to keep clean air circulating through your house. The air filters in Airco furnaces are extra large.

They are made by Fram, and are permanently treated to trap and destroy airborne impurities, bacteria and irritating pollens. This same filter system is used successfully in many hospitals.

LONG LIFE

Like your car, or any other piece of mechanical equipment, your furnace can't run forever. But thousands of families who have Airco units in their homes for many years tell us that they have spent little or no money in replacing worn parts.

That's because, when it is a question of choosing between cost and performance on component parts, we have always insisted on quality.

For instance, all the automatic controls on the Airco furnace are the first-line products of Honeywell Controls Ltd., a leading manufacturer with an established reputation. We couldn't get controls, at any price, that would do the job better. The same applies to motors, nozzles and fittings — in fact, all the parts that we build into the furnace. The extra dollars it costs to put these superior components into the Airco furnace are more than returned to you in reliable performance.

The Airco furnace is manufactured in our Vancouver plant. Here, every part is carefully inspected, not once, but many times. Then the whole assembled furnace is given a final inspection before it's shipped. Our laboratory is constantly in use, testing to maintain quality standards.

QUIET OPERATION

The perfect furnace is one that you never see or hear. This is not an easy thing to achieve. For one thing, you need a gentle flow of warm air in every part of your home.

In order to move this amount of air, without draughts, a powerful blower is necessary. And unless this blower is properly mounted, it can cause vibration and objectionable noise.

Airco blower units are belt-driven, powered by precision built, quiet running motors. They are bench-tested, and individually fitted to every furnace. Each unit is grounded to prevent electrical interference with radio or television sets. The heavy steel casing around the Airco furnace is thoroughly insulated against heat and sound transmission — another aid to quiet operation. The rugged heat-exchanger is also free-floating, eliminating one more possible source of noise.

PROPER INSTALLATION

Regardless of the furnace you buy, a great deal of the satisfaction you get will come from a properly designed heating system and a workmanlike installation.

Airco furnaces are sold through authorized dealers. These dealers are local community craftsmen, selected because they really know the heating business.

You can trust your Airco dealer to select the correct capacity of gas or oil furnace to meet your particular need. And you can trust him to do a conscientious, efficient job of installation.

DEPENDABILITY IS OUR FIRST RESPONSIBILITY

At Airco, we are primarily concerned with the production of top-quality furnaces and warm-air-heating products. This is our main business — not just a sideline.

We have been in this business for over thirty-five years. Each year, more and more people who look for value choose Airco furnaces, so we are going to be around for a long time.

While guarantee certificates are important (and you get them with Airco not only on the entire unit, but on various individual components as well) we feel that the most important guarantee you can have is the reputation and stability of the manufacturer.

This is the most important extra of all. You get it with every Airco furnace, at no additional cost!

AIRCO OIL OR GAS FURNACES

Airco furnaces are available in over fifty models. They can be either oil or gas burning units. They come in a style and capacity to meet every possible need.

'Smoke-Eater' Listens for Hoof-Beats, Alarms of Past

Fire horses as well as fire men had to know their jobs in the old days before mechanization, a veteran Victoria "smoke-eater" recalled in a visit to the city yesterday.

Albert Waring, 73, now a retired construction man in Richmond, Calif., had his early days in Victoria brought to mind yesterday as he looked at the Redfern Pump—relic of the city's earlier days now on display outside fire department headquarters on Yates Street.

"I've driven this pump many times," he recalled. "We used to keep it even shinier then."

was pleased to recognize many old friends. Not least important among these were the horses. Prince, a white-faced black and Bleucher, a bay, made a fine team," he recalled. "Prince in particular was popular with the men."

"Most famous horse of all time in the department, however, was Dan."

"Dan could, and did, fill in for any of the other horses if they were sick. No matter what trail we put him in, he'd rug with the alarm to the right place on the right piece of equipment."

"All the men loved Dan. When he wasn't busy we kept him in a pasture off Superior Street in James Bay, and off-duty men would go over there with candy in their pockets for old Dan."

During most of Mr. Waring's three years with the department he worked out of No. 2 hall on Yates Street—now the Victoria Boys' Club—just across the street from new headquarters.

Mr. Waring remembered a fire that wiped out the lower end of Chatham Street in 1908 as the biggest in his three years with the department. "It's odd," he said, "the things that come to mind."

"On that fire I was driving a chemical wagon, speeding along, Douglas and down the next street to Cormorant."

"When I got to the corner of Government I suddenly saw a woman crossing in front of me, pushing a baby buggy, and near her a old Chinese pushing a fish cart."

"I knew I couldn't avoid hitting someone, and remember thinking 'Well, I can't hit that baby.' So the rig struck the old Chinese, sending him and his cart rolling along the street."

"Luckily, I learned later, he wasn't hurt."

International Rivers Draw Nations to B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP)—International development of international river systems is the subject of a week-long seminar under way at UBC.

Experts from 15 countries are taking part, presided over by Roberto Heurtematte, administrator of the UN technical assistance program.

Papers on major river basins, including the Columbia and St. Lawrence in Canada, will be presented and catalogued by the UN for use in future development projects.

Mr. Heurtematte said the seminar is of considerable importance because the Technical Assistance Committee is primarily concerned with underdeveloped countries. "If a country is going to improve its economy it must have source of power for industry," he said. "Thus it is logical to start with development of river basins."

The Junior Forest Warden program is sponsored by the Canadian Forestry Association and was first begun in 1930 in British Columbia. Since then some 26,000 boys have rendered assistance to the forest protection system.

Boys 10 to 16 Asked To Forestry Course

Junior Forest Wardens, Group 113, will start winter activities tonight at Marigold Community Hall and boys 10 to 16 years old interested in forestry are invited to attend.

Courses to be studied include forestry, fire prevention, forest conservation, woods travel, first aid, Morse, semaphore, mapping, among other things. The program includes trips to sawmills, ranger stations, tree farms and a tree planting program, which sees the red-shirted young rangers planting as many as 100 trees each in one day.

Stocks Make Shaky Close At New York

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks faltered badly on reduced activity. The market opened lower and drifted steadily downward until the final bell with little sign of support. Losses were widespread and particularly heavy in some of the blue-chip production shares. Brokers attributed the decline to price cutting especially in scrap copper and oil products, heavy gasoline inventories, and prospects for a fast auto settlement and to increasing amount of government intervention in business.

Walker Hard Hit

TORONTO (CP)—The stock market eased in profit-taking in moderate trading. Hardest hit was Walker-Goodenham which fell 3 1/2 to 58 1/2 following official denial of stock split rumors. Refining oils, banks and foods paced the drooping market. In oils, Canadian Husky, Canadian Imperial, and Imperial all slipped from 1/2 to 1/4. Investors syndicate A bucked the general trend and reached a high of 50, up a point. Algoma featured steels with a high of 48, also up a point. Goodyear Tire advanced 1/2. Senior base metals were lower. Gunpowder, Consolidated Mining and Smelting, Labrador Noranda International Nickel, Campbell Chibougamau and Falconbridge lost from 1/2 to 3/4 cents.

Papers Decline

MONTREAL (CP)—Prices were mixed. In papers, Price at 49 and Great Lakes at 20 1/2, both lost 1/2. B.C. Forest fell 1/2 at 14. Among the utilities, Calgary Power gained 1/2 at 26 1/2. In banks, Royal gained 1/2 at 30, and Imperial Bank of Commerce declined 1/2 at 68 1/2. Among the industrials, Walker-Goodenham fell 3 1/2 at 58 1/2, Cokhuit added 1/2 at 11 1/2, Foxboro fell one point at 62, Pembina Pipeline at 1/2 advanced one point. Steel of Canada at 7 1/2 and Imperial Oil at 47 dropped 1/2. Argus gained 1/2 at 45 1/2, and Hudson Bay Co. was unchanged at 13. In Mines, Denison declined 1/2 at 10 1/2, Hollinger at 27 1/2, and Falconbridge at 58 both slipped.

Pipeline Higher

VANCOUVER—Industrials inclined higher under the leadership of Trans Mountain at 11 1/2. Westminister Paper at 37 and Coranation Credit at 23. Rothmans also strengthened but B.C. Power fell back to 33 1/2. Freight failed to hold its new high, slipping to 31 1/2 in active trading, but except for the promotional Unica, which was top trader, mines eased. Oils were mixed.

London Stock Prices

As of 10:15 a.m. Sept. 13, 1961. The London Stock Exchange closed at 100.10. The market was generally steady, with some fluctuations in the early afternoon. The main index, the Industrial Average, closed at 100.10, up from 99.80 at the opening. The market was characterized by a general sense of caution, with some profit-taking in the early afternoon.

P & O Merger Report Boosts Cunard Shares

By HARRY YOUNG

Colonist Business Editor

The great cream colored ships of the P. and O. Orient Line which are now a regular sight along the Victoria waterfront may soon become involved in another great British shipping merger.

An amalgamation is reported to be in the making with the Cunard Line, Britain's leading shipping operator on the Trans-Atlantic run.

Unconfirmed rumors to this effect sent shares of Cunard rising on London Stock Exchange yesterday.

Cunard is planning to build a new Trans-Atlantic giant, with government assistance, to replace its ageing Queen Mary.

P. and O. Orient which is a merger of the two lines contained in the title is now the largest British shipping company, and most of its giant globe circling giants have been built in the post war period.

Chimera and Canberra, the latest additions to the line, can carry more passengers than any other ocean going.

HELP FOR MOTORISTS
Motorists who have a conviction-free record but who have to insure under the assigned risk plan may now do so up to a maximum of $50,000 all inclusive without penalty in the form of higher premiums.

Drivers with convictions in the last 36 months are still limited to $25,000 under the assigned risk plan, and they have to pay premium surcharges according to their record.

GM STILL LEADS
General Motors held its place in 1961 at the top of Fortune Magazine's directory of 500 largest American industrial corporations.

Based on sales, G.M. ranked first at $12,736,085,000 in sales, nearly $200,000,000 more than Standard Oil of New Jersey, its nearest rival. Next in order of sales greatness were Ford Motor, General Electric, U.S. Steel, Socony-Mobil Oil and Chrysler.

Bank of America ranked as the largest bank while Metropolitan Life Insurance led the

Mutuel May Be Million

Better quality (if not more quantity) of stock and more good riders than usual seem to be the features as Sandown Park opens its seventh thoroughbred racing season today in a season expected to see the first million-dollar mutuel handle in the history of the Sidway racing strip.

The million-dollar goal could be obtained without difficulty this season although last season's record handle of $954,733 was a 15 per cent increase over the previous best.

EXTRA DAYS HELP

An increased number of races at Sandown this season tends to indicate that play at Sandown should at least hold its own with 1960. And this year there will be two extra days of racing, making it a 16-day meeting instead of the 14 days of other seasons.

Today is the first extra day, the second will be on Monday, Sept. 25. Except for that, racing will take place only on Wednesdays, Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays until the final day, Monday, Oct. 9.

Post time each day will be 1:15 p.m. and eight races are scheduled every day except Wednesdays and Thursdays.

Eight races were scheduled for today but the card was cut to seven when there were not enough entries for the eighth event.

TOR TALENT

Thirteen riders have occupied mounts today, including six new to Sandown who are here after good seasons at Vancouver.

Best record among the newcomers is held by Amos Maris, who rode 51 winners at Vancouver to place fourth in the riders' standings. Celestino Dominguez had 40 winners at Vancouver, Bobby Dale had 32, Joe D'Augustino had 28, Walter Miller 10 and Al Ventrella seven.

Al Sherman, fourth at Sandown last year, has been in the Vancouver winners' circle 31 times this year and George Miller, second to Jimmy Broomfield at Sandown in 1960 with 14 winners, was on the front end 19 times in Vancouver this year.

A Dark Departure

Strain of the pursuit of Babe Ruth's home run record showing in every line, Mickey Mantle (left) and Roger Maris head dejectedly for the dugout after New York Yankees lost twice to Chicago White Sox yesterday. Neither hit a home run in three-game series, leaving them seven games in break Ruth's mark. Maris has 56 homers, Mantle 53.—(AP Photofax.)

Maris Now Learning How Gargantua Lived

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—Roger Maris could tell you today that it's something like an animal kept in a cage and the sign on his niche reads "home sapien."

Whether he hits one or whether he doesn't, they gather around him after the ball game in a tight cluster. Long ago they ran out of questions, so they stand there, shuffling their feet, waiting hopefully for somebody to come up with something new.

Meanwhile they regard him with the fixed, awed and perplexed start of children at the zoo.

Patiently he waits them out, being past the stage of voluntary submission to the cage. He answers calmly and analytically, almost as if he was talking about somebody else.

Some of them are beautiful. It goes something like this and the thoughts in parenthesis are one man's opinion (times) of what the man must be thinking to himself but leaving unsaid:

"Do you think you'll hit 61?"

"I'll be able to answer that the day the season ends."

"Now isn't that a dilly? How in the name of Abner Doubleday can I tell how many I'll hit. The dope must think I'm psychic or that this thing is being run from a prepared script."

"Would you rather hit 300 or 61 home runs?"

"I'd be glad to settle for either, or both."

"What a screwball. If I could get that 61st I couldn't care how big I hit the size of my hat."

"Do you think there's more rabbit in the ball this year?"

"I have no way of answering that question."

"Rabbit, schmabbit. Personally I hope every ball that comes up there is half rabbit and half kangaroo. Me, I love rabbits."

"Roger, do you feel you're starting to grip the bat too tight?"

"I think I'm gripping and swinging about the same as always."

"Wonder where this guy thinks I got this sawdust on my pants? Man, anybody this close would have to have the bat pried out of his hands."

"Do you think the Yankee winning streak, which kept you from hitting a lot in the bottom of the ninth, hurt your chances?"

"As long as we're winning, that's the important thing."

"Hurt me." May, it outside. How do you think you'd feel if you saw another chance go down the drain?"

"If you hit 61, do you think it would be worth a million bucks to you, like they say?"

"That's an awful lot of money but I wouldn't know."

"One million smackers, wow. I'll take any part of it and just hope it goes that high."

"Do you have any trouble sleeping at night?"

"Well, it's quite a strain but the penant is on my big thought."

"Any trouble sleeping? Man, I know every crack in that ceiling. Do you think those circles around my eyes mean I'm the Lone Ranger?"

"Are you having any trouble eating?"

"Not particularly."

"Ugh, don't mention food. My belly's been doing back flips for a month and I'm a cinch to break Babe Ruth's record for taking bicarbonate of soda."

"One last question, Roger. Who's the easiest pitcher for you to hit?"

"They're all tough."

"Now I'm gonna tell you and get the guy mad at me. On top of which, buster, the way they're throwing to me, they all are tough. It seems like I haven't seen a pitch down the middle since Yogi Berra was a rookie."

"Thank you, gentlemen."

"And please, get lost."

Saudi Arabia had 194 deaths attributed to sunstroke in 1961, compared with 377 in 1960 and 454 in 1959.

Mantle Tosses Towel

CHICAGO (AP)—Mickey Mantle said Thursday night he's about ready to toss in the towel in his chase of Babe Ruth's home run record.

Teammate Roger Maris, standing alongside Mickey in the dressing room said, "I think I've still got a chance. If I can get hot in Detroit."

But Mantle, describing himself as tired and "without that sting in my swing," looked like a fellow who realizes his chances were practically nil.

Ruth's Record All But Safe As Challengers Miss Twice

Time is rapidly running out on Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle.

Maris went to the plate eight times and Mantle seven times yesterday as New York Yankees lost twice to Chicago White Sox, but neither could win streak at 13 with 83 and 43 victories. Maris, now only one game ahead of Ruth's 1927 pace, managed three singles in eight tries and Mantle went hitless in seven trips.

Maris, with 56 homers, and Mantle, with 53, have seven games left in which to tie or break Ruth's mark under the 154-game limit set by baseball commissioner Ford Frick.

DETROIT NEXT

Today they move to Detroit to take on the second-place Tigers in a double-header that opens a four-game series.

A combination of six New York victories or six Detroit losses will give the Yankees the American League pennant for the 26th time.

The National League pennant race was tightened up a bit in Los Angeles last night, when the Dodgers moved within five games of the Cincinnati Reds with a 7-4 victory over Pittsburgh Pirates.

Dodgers came to the ninth trailing 6-3 and seemed headed Chicago snapped the Yank

Lions Shine for First Half But Fall to Bombers, 36-15

WINNIPEG—B.C. Lions strove mightily Thursday night to make new-coach Dave Skreina a winner in his first game but they were the same old football team in the second half as Winnipeg Blue Bombers powered their way to a 36-15 Canadian Football League win before 16,016 fans.

Playing it tough in a game which featured some rough football, the Lions sprung wondrous Willie Fleming loose twice in the first half as they held their own with the Western Conference champions.

NO CONTEST

They left the field for the intermission trailing by only one point, 15-14, but it was strictly no contest in the last two quarters as the Bombers looked like the club they were last year to take charge of the game.

Quarterback Kenny Ploen was in top form and typical Winnipeg blocking for a stand out backfield of Leo Lewis, Ray Jauch, rookie fullback Roger Hagberg and Gerry James was something the Lions couldn't counter.

Ploen and Hagberg each scored two touchdowns and Ploen connected on a pass to Farrell Funston for a fifth major score. James kicked three converts and added the other points with a field goal.

Fleming got his first touch down on the hurry stat-of-liberty play taking the ball from Joe Kapp as the quarter back faded back as if there was a pass and scooting into the end zone on a play while started on the Winnipeg 27 yard line.

DAZZLING RUN

The second Lion touchdown gave the fans a chance to see Fleming at his spectacular best. With the ball at the away from the Winnipeg goal line, Fleming took a cutting line of scrimmage and evaded almost every Blue Bomber in the field in a dazzling run. He Kristopanis, making his first start of the season, kicked both converts and got the other B.C. point with a field goal attempt late in the second quarter which, if successful, would have put the Lions ahead.

TIE AT 7-7

Lions matched the Bombers all the way in the first half. They tied at 7-7 on Fleming's first score, then crashed back into the game after Winnipeg had taken a 16-7 lead.

On the first play after James had kicked his field goal, Fleming came up with his long dash and it was 14-16 when Kristopanis converted.

Fired up, the Lions threw back two plays for a loss of eight yards and forced Winnipeg to punt. Then, starting on their own 47, they ground their way downfield until they got within 30 yards. Kapp took the air there and two incomplete passes forced the Lions to try for a field goal.

THESE DOWNS

At the end of the first half, the Bombers had 13 first downs, the Lions 12. Both clubs had completed five of nine passes, the Lions for 120 yards, the Bombers for 85. On the ground, the Bombers had the edge, 146 yards to 110.

How different it was in the second quarter.

The Bombers gave Kapp the big rush and also managed to blanket his intended receivers. Kapp completed only three more passes for 21 yards, got 82 on the ground and five more first downs.

AIR GROUND

Winnipeg passed for 136 yards in the second half and carried for 161 in picking up 22 more first downs.

Victory was the sixth in eight games for the Bombers, leaving only by the unbeaten

Hamilton Tiger-Cats and Edmonton Eskimos, who lead the Western Conference by two games.

For the still winless Lions, it was the sixteenth defeat in 16 games and just about completely snuffed out their already almost negligible chance for a playoff spot. They trail the third-place Saskatchewan club by five points, and the Roughriders have only played five games.

key figure in Victoria United's new Pacific Coast Soccer League campaign gets back into the game after a 12-month layoff tomorrow, and manager Wally Milligan is fervently hoping he hasn't lost his scoring touch.

Before retiring Ackinlose set a Victoria and District Football League record of 50 goals in the 1954-55 season while playing with Canadian Scottish. Last night Milligan named him to start at centre forward for United against Vancouver Canadians tomorrow at 2 p.m. at Royal Athl. Park.

TEHRILLI KLEN

"Billy has looked wonderful in the workouts, and he's terribly keen to play again," Milligan said. "If he's as good as he was, it could help solve a lot of problems."

Milligan has looked mainly to Victoria Evosecs for his forward line. Flanking Ackinlose at inside will be George Paul and Tim Walker. Ed Robb, injured in mid-season last year, will play on the right wing and Pat Mulcahy at George Hotel on the left.

HALF LINE

George Wright and Bob Marks of Evosecs and team captain Harold Murray of George are on the half line with the highly-rated Canadian Scottish team of Harry Caruthers and Ron Jenkin at fullback.

Once again we issue a call for rain at the start of another hunting season, and we hope the same thing will happen for deer as happened two weeks ago for grouse, when buckets of rain fell on parched forest lands just in time to re-open the forests for grouse shooting.

The fire hazard is again critical. Unless there is heavy rain before Saturday morning there will be very little deer hunting when the season opens. Island Affiliated Fish and Game Clubs access chairman Ted Barby said last night none of the fish and game access gates to hunting areas controlled by logging companies are expected to be opened this weekend, unless there is heavy rain first. Almost all of the gates were closed last Sunday, although grouse hunters were able to shoot on Saturday.

Victoria Fish and Game Club access chairman Bob Bood said he expects all Sooke area gates to be closed this weekend, including the new Leechtown area.

Forestry officials said there has been no talk yet of a general forest closure, although the situation is serious, especially in the north of the island where the hazard is as great as it has been all season.

Forestry meteorologists held out some hope of a break in the weather today, and yesterday most of the island was covered in a cooling morning cloud.

Greater Victoria Water Board commissioner Ron Upward says there is no truth to the rumors the Victoria watershed will be opened wide to hunters this season.

"I would like to see a lot of deer killed. If only we could beat them out to the boundaries, but it is prohibited territory under the Health Act and we can't let anyone in without first having a blood and other medical tests," he said.

He said deer in the watershed area set the reforestation program back five years and the water board plants 75,000 trees a year.

He said the Watershed gates will be closed and that a patrolman will patrol the 56-acre watershed area.

Safety, both with fire hazards and firearms should be the keynote of all hunters, especially this year when the hunters have gained access permission to more areas than ever before. Any damage or carelessness could set the hard-won access program back many years. With only two weeks of hunting behind us, three hunters have been peppered with bird shot on Vancouver Island.

Nanaimo Fish and Game Club kicks off a Safe Hunter Week on Saturday and hopes next year the idea will be adopted by all B.C. fish and game clubs. Bumper strips reading "Be a Safe Hunter" have been issued to all members and 100 posters have been placed in window displays and in the bush reading "Be a Safe Hunter. Carelessness Costs. Safety Pays."

The obvious place to go for fishing this weekend is Alberni Canal, where they are still getting the big tye in good numbers, especially in the waters between Coos Creek and Nahmint Bay, which will be closed to fishing at midnight Sunday.

Victoria waterfront has tapered off, but that picture could change any day, because good coho fishing may be expected until next time at least. Stonewall Jackson has been getting coho on the bucktail in Shoal Bay, but most fishermen have been going deep—1½ pounds or planer and wire line has been getting coho up to 15 pounds off Trial Island.

The coho are starting to appear in Saanich Inlet, probably the forerunners of the coho run to the inlet. Springs at Cowichan Bay are now pretty black and emphasis is on coho fishing. Fishing along the east coast from Nanaimo to Campbell River has been just fair with most boats getting one or two fish, many of them grilse.

The coho run appears to have arrived at Campbell River with Browns Bay, Menzies Bay, Quathiaski Cove, Cape Mudge and on to Willow Point reported fairly good. Kelsey Bay is now giving up the big northern coho, up to 18 pounds, and the big coho are starting to appear at Port Renfrew.

Freshwater fishing is picking up slowly. A few steel-head have been caught at China Creek and the Stamp River in the Albers. Deep trolling is still required in the lakes. Quennel is still good for bass.

A full fishing closure goes on the Sooke River, starting at midnight Sunday, in order to give protection to the coho and spring salmon which have started to run up the river. Closure is from Demanel Creek to the mouth of the river. Campbell River has been closed from Elk Falls to the mouth.

Irish Golfer Bids for Title

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Former champion Jack Nicklaus of Columbus, Ohio, and veteran Joe Carr of Ireland swept through a pair of matches Thursday and advanced with two little known youngsters into the semi-finals of the United States amateur golf championship.

Nicklaus will oppose Sanny Methvin, 21-year-old junior from Louisiana State University, while Carr, the Irish haberdasher, takes on Dud Wyson, 22-year-old McKinney, Tex., swinger.

By his two victories Thursday, Carr becomes the strongest British threat to take the title none of his countrymen has won since 1911.

Nicklaus, who won the crown in 1959 as a 19-year-old, disposed of Sam Carmichael of Martinsville, Ind., in the quarter-finals 4 and 3, after ousting John Humm of Rockville Centre, N.Y., 3 and 1 in the fifth round.

Carr knocked out Gene Francis, East Williston, N.Y., insurance man, in the afternoon, one up, when the 23-year-old former Purdue player fired his second shot on the final hole into the ocean. During the morning, Carr whipped Charles Courtney, San Diego State player, 2 and 1.

Wyson, a semi-finalist in 1959, crushed Richard Norville, Oklahoma City geologist 6 and 5, in the quarter-finals after downing Ed Hopkins of Abilene, Tex., 4 and 3, earlier.

Methvin won from Charlie Smith of Gastonia, N.C., 5 and 4, on the Walker Cupper's own errors after measuring Richard Hansen of Coos Bay, Ore., 4 and 3, before lunch.

Today's semi-finals and Saturday's final will be over 36 holes of the Pebble Beach course, whose 6,747 yards stretch over high bluffs and sandy beaches of the Pacific shoreline.

Wyson is a chain-smoking six-footer with a syrup-smooth swing. This is his fourth try for the U.S. amateur title. He reached the third round in 1958, lost to Charlie Coe of Oklahoma City in the 1959 semi-finals. Last year he was ousted in the first round.

Methvin was the Arkansas State champion in 1960 and the runner-up this year. He does all his work on the greens with a pendulum-type putter which he uses as a sighting rod.

Carr is rated the greatest amateur golfer produced in Europe since the Second World War. He has represented Great Britain a record eight times in Walker Cup play.

At 21, Nicklaus already is regarded as one of the coming greats on this continent. He is the current U.S. collegiate champion, was the amateur champion in 1959, and in 1960 his 282 in the U.S. Open was the lowest total ever posted by an amateur. He finished second to pro Arnold Palmer.

American League President Against Ruling on Homers

CHICAGO (AP)—American League president Joe Cronin said Thursday if New York's Roger Maris or Mickey Mantle hit 61 home runs in the regulation 162-game schedule, it must be regarded as a record.

Cronin said he did not wish to become involved in any dispute with baseball commissioner Ford Frick.

At the same time, he added, he could see no logic in the commissioner's ruling which specifies that Ruth's 60 homers in 1927 must be topped in 154 games to count as a new standard.

"After all, Ruth hit his 60 in 151 games," said Cronin, a contemporary of Ruth when he was the star shortstop and manager of the Washington Senators in the early 1930s.

"Therefore, if a person wants to be technical he can say the record counts only if either Maris or Mantle hit 61 homers in as many games as Ruth did."

"I respect the commissioner's feelings about the matter, but as far as I'm concerned it will be a record if either or both do it in 162 games."

Frick, however, stood firm when informed of Cronin's comment.

"You don't break the 100-metre record in a 100-yard dash," the commissioner said. The metre is 3.37 inches longer than a yard and Frick used the analogy to stress the fact that the season was 154 games long when Ruth set his record and is now 162 games.

"There'll be two records," Frick continued. "The most home runs in a 154-game schedule and the most in a 162-game schedule."

But the way things are going for Maris and Mantle these days, it may not matter about Frick's ruling.

Speaking Briefly

One Stroke May Net $10,000

Chunky Miller Barber of El Dorado, Ark., who had never earned more than $816.66 in a golf tournament, virtually cinched a $10,000 payday with one swing of the club yesterday in the $25,000 Greater Seattle Open.

Barber shot a hole-in-one on the par-three seventh hole, where tournament sponsors had offered $10,000 for the feat. Unless someone duplicated the feat in the last three days of the tourney, Barber will pick up the whole bundle, and members of the Broadmoor Golf Club could recall no more than two aces on the seventh in the last 20 years.

First-round leader was Bill Collins of Miami, Fla., who shot a six-under-par 64, including seven birdies, for a two-stroke lead over Toronto's Al Balding. Dave Hill, winner of the Denver Open last week, and Jacky Culpit of Longview, Texas.

Barber was among seven players tied at 67, and Vancouver's Stan Leonard was in a seven-way tie at 68.

WORLD SERIES will open Oct. 4 at the home of the American League winner (presumably New York Yankees) if the Cincinnati Reds win the National League pennant, and one day later if Los Angeles Dodgers win. Yanks and Reds were authorized yesterday to start printing tickets.

Luis Ayala of Chile, making his debut as a professional in Jack Kramer's touring tennis troupe, beat Lew Hoad, 6-3, 6-2, 4-6, 6-2 last night in the first round of the "world clay courts championship" tournament in Paris.

Japanese high school student Kenjiro Matsumoto cut four-tenths of a second off Terry Gathercole's world 200-metre breast-stroke record yesterday with a time of 2:36.1 in the Japanese national athletic summer games.

UN Troops Shoot Up Katanga Ambulance

Calling All Cards

VANCOUVER (CP)—Two UBC students, Douglas Roy Piteau and William Henry, Thursday were remanded in connection with a false alarm given on the radio of an unattended police cruiser which sent 10 police cars to a downtown intersection.

Police said the call said: "Help. Got robbery, got a robbery, corner of Union, no Pender and Richards. All have weapons. All have weapons."

Dollar-a-Car Chant Plan

Parking Assured For 'Pool' Drivers

Provincial civil servants may now obtain a regular, reserved parking space on the lot at Government and Belleville as part of a scheme designed to cut down the number of cars brought to work and at the same time provide funds for future off-street parking sites.

Works Minister W. N. Chant said yesterday government employees who got together in groups of three or more could be assured of reserved parking spaces for the payment of $1 a month.

These multi-member groups have to travel to work in one car.

CUT DOWN CARS

"This way we can cut down on the number of cars being brought to work every day," said Mr. Chant. "The great majority of civil servants arrive here every day in one car."

He said money collected for the parking would be placed in a fund to provide extra parking facilities.

"This scheme is fully voluntary," said the minister. If government employees still want to come to work in their own cars every day they must take their chances of getting parking spaces.

All departments have been advised of the new scheme.

PRESIDENT TSHOMBE still in residence

all Katanga police and all—inexplicably—shot in the back. UN troops yesterday again fired on a Katanga army ambulance displaying red crosses seriously wounding the African driver and two white nurses.

Katanganese 'Stupid'

UN chief Conor O'Brien was tense and nervous.

Only the "ebullient, smiling" Indian military commander of the UN forces in Katanga, Brigadier Raja, seemed refreshed and at ease.

"They are stupid—they are ruining the town by the way they are carrying on," said Brigadier Raja, speaking of the Katangan resistance.

He added: "My men are only shooting at self defence—only when they are fired upon."

This seems contradicted by the fact of the shooting of two defenceless ambulances by UN troops in the past two days.

Brigadier Raja said there were no further casualties following Wednesday's total of two UN men dead and ten wounded.

I visited UN headquarters, where I found the executive staff living on tea and biscuits and sleeping on stretchers.

Deputy chief political officer Michem Tomberlaine was unshaven and hollow-eyed from lack of sleep.

Hopes for Ceasefire

In actual fact, it is believed the total killed number more than 200 already—most casualties among the Katangese.

Mr. O'Brien told me he was in touch with Tshombe through an intermediary and that he hopes for a ceasefire at any moment—which does not lie in with what Tshombe told me.

O'Brien and Raja both insist that they have the situation under control, but this is not borne out by the ferocity of the fighting which still goes on and by the fact that the central Congolese representatives who flew in Wednesday to take over control of Katanga, had to spend the night in armchairs at the airport—and are still there—because Mr. O'Brien told them it was not safe to enter the city.

Mr. Egidio Bouchey Davidson who leads the contingent told me: "Mr. O'Brien tells us it will not be long now before we enter Elisabethville. I am sure everything will be all right."

One cannot avoid the impression that the United Nations here have not the control they say they have.

U.S. Army Cancels Saucer Experiment

TORONTO (UPI)—An estimated $10 million project to build a flying saucer for the U.S. army and air force has been scrapped, it was reported Thursday.

The experimental "Avrocar" designed by London-born engineer John Frost and built here by A. V. Roe Ltd., was produced to gain knowledge about vertical takeoff aircraft and the "ground cushion" principle in which a craft skims close to the ground.

Frost, 45, told the Toronto Telegram that the decision to stop work on the saucer was reached last month because funds for the project were cut off by the U.S. army.

It was estimated that about $10 million had been poured into the project by the U.S. army and air force since it got under way three years ago.

Frost said he believed the funds were cut off because "the Americans had got all they wanted out of our experiments."

Frost said he had resigned from A. V. Roe "because there is no work left for me to do." He said he had designed a second "saucer" which had been undergoing tests at the Ames research centre in California.

Political Organization 'Sideline' for Inspector

QUEBEC (CP)—A former Quebec Liquor Police inspector testified Thursday he worked as a political organizer for two months in the riding of federal State Secretary Noel Dorion in the 1958 federal election.

Rene Mercier, 45, was testifying at the preliminary hearing of Rosario Lemire, former Quebec district chief of the QLP, and one of three men accused of defrauding the provincial government and the public of more than $500,000.

Mercier said he was paid with fraudulent expense accounts.

In Ottawa, Mr. Dorion said it is "the first time I have heard anything about this man."

Rebel Local Faces New Test

SUDBURY, Ont. (CP)—The national office of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers' Union Thursday took what could be the first step in a new move to place rebel Local 508 under trusteeship.

National president Ken Smith laid formal charges under the union's constitution against the local chief Don Gillis and his executive committee. He set Sept. 22 for a hearing.

Five charges were listed by Smith. They include accusing Gillis and his board of holding secret meetings with representatives of the United Steelworkers of America whether the charges have been filed.

Gillis said Thursday he had not yet received formal notification of the charges and declined to comment.

Police found the intruders: a three-year-old was eating cake mix and his two-year-old brother was munching sunflower seeds.

No charges were laid.

Apple Growers Wage Cannon War on Birds

KELOWNA, B.C. (CP)—Kelowna apple growers are waging a cannon war to stop birds from raiding their orchards.

Their neighbors are counter-attacking with a campaign to cut down the noise from the booming cannons.

They have managed to get the cannon-firing limited to daylight hours.

But the orchardists claim the explosions won't bother anyone, once people are conditioned.

"The wife and myself can't hear the explosions unless we listen for them," says grower William Dumbleton.

Dumbleton and 11 other apple growers in the area have imported the $65 cannons from Europe.

They resemble Crimean War artillery pieces, but they're fully automatic.

Water drips onto a piece of carbide generating a gas which builds up pressure in the barrel chamber. The pressure triggers a flint which throws a spark igniting the gas causing the explosion.

Dumbleton says the blast can be heard a mile away and is "100 per cent successful" in keeping the birds away.

80 Years No Time To Quit

MOOSE JAW (CP)—The arrival of a person's 80th year is no reason to place that person "on the shelf," the Saskatchewan pensioners' and senior citizens' convention was told Thursday.

A. M. Nicholson, Saskatchewan social welfare minister said older people should be encouraged to participate in community affairs so they may have the feeling they are doing worthwhile things for themselves and their grand children.

"We should develop programs where people over 65, who are in good health, can continue to work and contribute to a better life," he said.

B.C. Loggers Get New Safety Code

VANCOUVER (CP)—A new code of safety regulations for B.C.'s 15,000 loggers goes into effect today, the Workmen's Compensation Board announced Thursday.

The board announced that sweeping revisions have been made to keep pace with new equipment and procedures now being used in logging.

Highlight of the revised regulations is a new approach in logging signals, the purpose of which is to simplify instructions in the movement of heavy equipment and lessen hazards to workers.

WCB accident prevention director Arthur Francis said that both management and labor worked together in a spirit of co-operation to help formulate the new code.

VIEWERS AIDED

Public hearings were held by the WCB in May and June of this year to give representatives from logging firms and the International Woodworkers of America the opportunity to air their views on the regulations.

Copies of the regulations are being distributed throughout the logging industry.

Complementary College

Regina to Stress Liberal Arts

REGINA (CP)—Plans to make the Regina campus of the University of Saskatchewan a liberal arts college first, a college to complement the Saskatchewan campus were made public Thursday.

Proposed development of the arts and social sciences would play a more important role than natural sciences. This would complement, rather than duplicate, the Saskatchewan campus of Birmingham, Mich., master plan for the multi-million-dollar Wascana Centre project on the banks of Wascana Lake.

The centre—being developed jointly by the city, province and university—already is the site of the provincial museum, a conservatory of music, and the report said.

Also suggested for the campus was a public documents centre for the joint use of the provincial government and the university.

This proposal now is being studied by the government.

The report said.

City Leery Of Approval On Project

City council yesterday decided against giving qualified approval to the $1,800,000 centennial project chosen by its centennial committee.

But council did refer the plan to its special city hall committee for study and a full report.

THREE WEEKS

The move delays possible adoption of the scheme by three weeks and disappointed centennial committee officials who had hoped for enthusiastic endorsement of the three-part project.

The project includes creation of a $600,000 centennial park and square on Cathedral Hill, construction of a $1,200,000 city hall in the same area and the use of Craigdarroch Castle as a city archives and tourist attraction.

SPECIAL BYLAW

Council gave preliminary consideration to a special bylaw to create a Cathedral Hill precinct but tabled it until the next meeting.

Mayor Percy Scurrell asked council to give the centennial project proposal immediate attention.

MANY THINGS

"There are many things that have to be considered but if an immediate study is made of it I don't see why we should not come to a definite conclusion at an early date," he said.

He suggested that council approve the scheme in principle and refer it to the city hall committee for study and report.

OTHER PROJECTS

Ald. Millard Mooney, a member of the city hall committee, asked what other projects were considered by the centennial committee.

"I am very interested in this project, but I am also very interested in what other projects were suggested."

"I may like some other project better than this one."

Ald. Rev. J. L. W. McLean said, "I would prefer to refer this to the committee without giving it approval of any kind and then hear the committee and decide if we want to approve it or not."

NOT HEARD ENOUGH

"I have not heard enough about it to know if I approve it in principle."

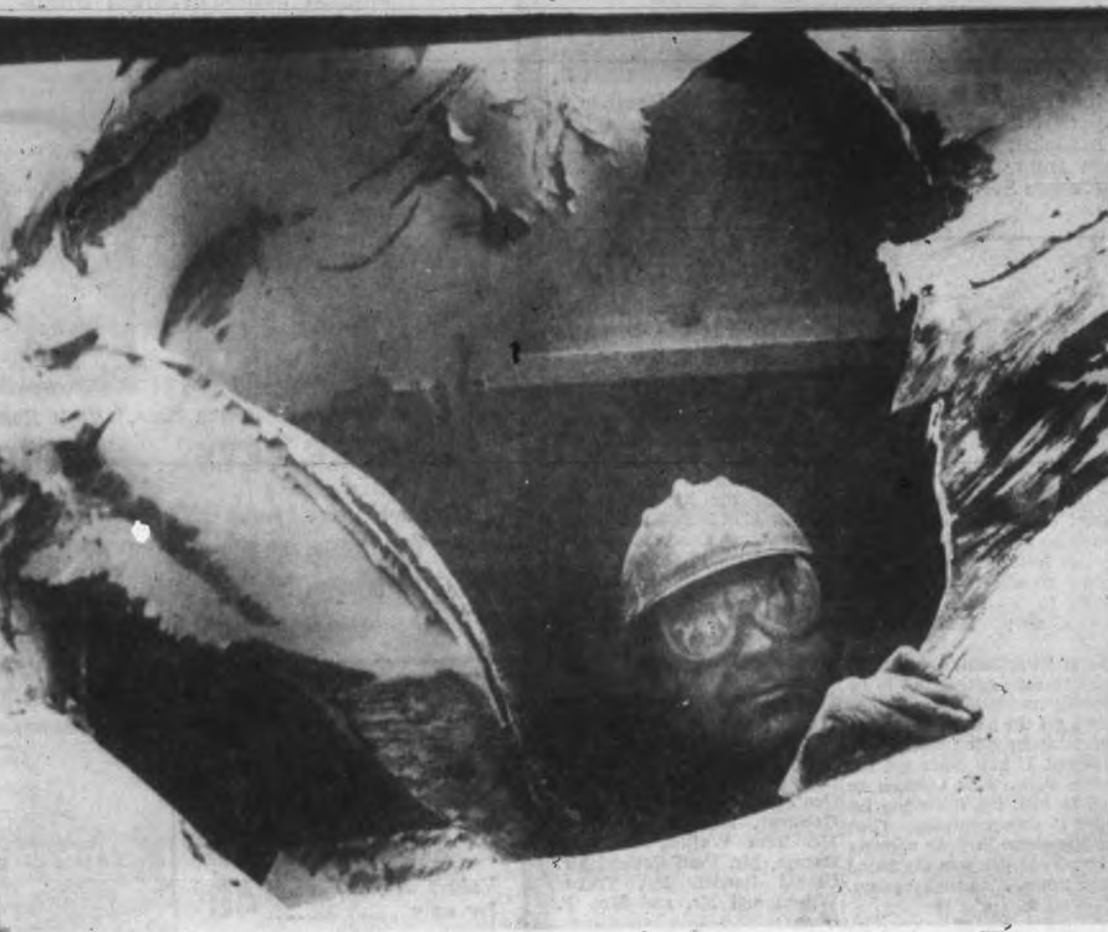

He said the proposed extension of Blanshard Street, to join with the Patricia Bay Highway, and the possibility of amalgamation in the future would both have some bearing on the suitability of the project.

Fountain Plans Progress Despite Outraged Cries

A contract will be placed with a Birmingham, England, firm shortly for the casting of bronze figures for the controversial fountain to be constructed behind the legislative buildings, Works Minister W. N. Chant said yesterday.

The work is going ahead as planned despite the cries of outrage which came from a section of Victoria's art colony.

Mr. Chant said it was hoped the $40,000 fountain, part of the government's gift to Victoria's centennial next year, would be completed by the May 24 holiday.

Where Warships Met

Dockyard worker engaged in stripping away damaged steel from the hull of HMCS Ottawa was photographed through the five-foot tear in the side of the ship, made by the bow of HMCS Ste. Therese. A board of inquiry convenes today to probe the cause of the collision.—(Ryan Bros. photo.)

Ottawa Gashed

Ship Collision Probe Today

A naval board of inquiry will convene today to probe the collision between the frigate Ste. Therese and the destroyer escort Ottawa yesterday.

The probe was requested by the commanders of the Second and Fourth Escort Squadrons.

No one was injured in the crash. The accident occurred as the Ste. Therese was being manoeuvred into a berth along the Ottawa at HMC Dockyard.

The heaviest damage was to the bow of the Ottawa.

A five-foot gash was ripped through the quarter-inch steel hull plating around the capstan deck.

A sailor in the compartment at the time of the crash was uninjured. Hull mechanic Art Eastholme had just left the shipwright's shop below the capstan deck when the stern of the Ste. Therese poked through the steel plating less than three feet from him.

Only damage to Ste. Therese was a broken jack staff, a naval spokesman said.

DUE TO SAIL

Ottawa was due to sail on a "working up" cruise Saturday night. The vessel had just completed refit.

A dockyard repair crew will work Saturday and Sunday to repair the damage.

They estimate the job will be completed late Monday. Repairs will entail replacing a longitudinal "I" beam and one vertical frame beam. Hull plates around the damaged area will be cut away and a 10-by-10-foot patch applied.

Ste. Therese is commanded by Lt.-Cmdr. Arthur G. Murray of Toronto and Halifax.

The ship is attached to the Fourth Escort Squadron, Cmdr. I. A. MacPherson, of Halifax and Victoria, is commander of Ottawa.

Possible failure of engine telegraphs aboard Ste. Therese may have caused the accident.

Is Christian Worker Higher Principled?

Does an atheist have less religion or whether he is a man of honesty or integrity than a Christian?

"Religion has something to do with honesty and integrity and so on," Ald. Rev. J. L. W. McLean told city council yesterday. "In my profession as a Christian minister I am often asked to give references."

He said it is important for an employer to know if a potential employee is a "man of religion, whether he is a man of the Communist re-

Three Exceptions to Ban

Violated Bylaw May Be Altered

'Area Free from Signs Now Free for All'

Finding itself out of step with its own sign bylaw, city council yesterday made preliminary moves to bring the bylaw into step with council's actions.

City public works committee has been charged with the job of reconsidering the sign bylaw as it applies to the area around the Empress Hotel, to set definitely what types of signs will be permitted.

The action was taken after council split over whether to grant operators of the Crystal Court Motel permission to erect a 19-foot-tall sign with 80 square feet of display surface immediately opposite Thunderbird Park.

Under the sign bylaw adopted by city council late last year, the Empress area was set aside as one to be kept as free of signs as possible.

ONE FACIA SIGN

Since then council has granted permission for three large free-standing signs in the area and one facia sign.

Mayor Percy Scurrell, Ald. Millard Mooney and Ald. Rev. J. L. W. McLean voted against permitting the Crystal Court Motel sign but were outvoted by Ald. Arthur Dowell, Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow, Ald. Michael Griffin and Ald. A. W. Toome.

"If council grants this today, we are taking one more step along the road council decided we would not go," Ald. McLean warned during discussion of the application.

"Something must be done because of the fact that we have in this particular area the exact opposite of what we wished to have."

"We wished to have an area free from signs but what we have is a free-for-all for signs."

DEFERRED PURPOSE

"We have ourselves defeated the purpose which we had in our minds in setting up this bylaw."

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow argued that the character of the area has changed completely in the past 12 months and the concept of keeping the area free from signs can no longer apply.

"The whole face of the area has been changed business-wise. It is now an active area, doing business."

"We felt we must assist these people. The only place they can get their business is from the Douglas Street area."

Gardener Pianist Turns 91

A perky Oak Bay resident, who spends a lot of time at crossword puzzles, playing a piano and working in his garden, is 91 years old today.

Harry H. Hollins, 936 St. Patrick, will celebrate the event quietly with friends and relatives.

GOOD CARE

Secret of his being so active is "the good care I give him," joked Mrs. Hollins, who is 70 years old. "He's quite perky, and I'm very proud of him."

The Hollins plan to have lunch with their neighbors, go to the Princess Mary for supper with a friend, Mrs. Nellie Hickox of Bellingham, and entertain relatives and friends afterwards.

No B.C. Grant For City Hall

Victoria centennial committee has recommended the construction of a $1,200,000 city hall on Blanshard Street as part of a Victoria centennial project.

SUBSTANTIAL GRANT

Mayor Percy Scurrell has stated there was reason to believe the city could get a substantial grant for the project.

But Premier Bennett threw cold water on this suggestion yesterday.

"We're not in the city hall business," he said bluntly.

Asked if the government would consider giving a grant if the plan went ahead, the premier replied: "No."

His views were echoed by Works Minister W. N. Chant, the senior Victoria Social Credit MLA.

"I don't think Mayor Scurrell is on very good ground for thinking the government will make a grant," said Mr. Chant. "It would be breaking new ground — such a thing hasn't been done before."

At the same time, however, he praised the proposed site.

"I approve highly of the site," he said. "I'm all for the development of that area where our new law courts building is nearing completion."

Mr. Chant said that there had been talk that the B.C. Power Commission offices might become available for a city hall.

"Maybe something is possible there," he said.

SPECIAL DEAL

But government officials have expressed doubt whether a special deal for the B.C.P.C. building could be obtained by the city.

It has been pointed out that the cost of the B.C.P.C. building has been borne by customers of the power commission and that this would prevent the building being handed to the city at bargain price.

Nuclear Bomb Shelters Started

Survival Cost in Victoria Ranges from $200 to $4,000

The cost of survival in nuclear-age Victoria ranges from a cut-rate $200 (for fallout only) to the swank, heat-resistant, blast-resistant, fallout-proof, $4,000 model.

V. C. Heath, head of Heath Construction, said construction will start today on the first fallout shelter ordered by a Greater Victoria resident.

Not quite the first, Mr. Heath has already started work on his own shelter in his Brentwood home.

Aud results of a meeting by several Victoria real estate companies yesterday may see a new type of local improvement project in communities wishing to build communal shelters.

SKETCHY DETAILS

Details of the meeting are sketchy at present, but it was learned that several companies were discussing ways and means of building communal shelters.

Meanwhile, survival has become a matter of "no down payment—so much a month."

UP TO $4,000

"Not many people seem to realize that they can borrow up to $4,000 under NHA for construction of a fallout shelter," said Mr. Heath.

"And when Mr. Diefenbaker starts to build his own shelter, that's my cue to build mine," he added.

His company starts work today on construction of a fallout and blast shelter for a "very prominent Victoria doctor."

FIVE PEOPLE

"It will accommodate five people and of course the whole matter is confidential," said Mr. Heath.

And though survival thinking has been slow in Victoria, his company has received a sudden rash of inquiries since the sabres started rattling in Berlin.

"We will start building a demonstration shelter in MacDonald's Furniture Store at 732 Fort Street on Monday. By next weekend it should be completed," said Mr. Heath.

Red Cross and Civil Defence people (as well as a number of Heath Construction salesmen) will be on hand to answer questions and hand out the CD pamphlet "11 Steps to Survival."

Shelters are as varied as home designs, says Mr. Heath. The $200 model protects only against fallout.

Mr. Heath's shelter, which will be solid concrete, will house 15 persons ("I want to think of my neighbors too," he said) and will resist both blast and heat.

Ste. Therese is commanded by Lt.-Cmdr. Arthur G. Murray of Toronto and Halifax.

The ship is attached to the Fourth Escort Squadron, Cmdr. I. A. MacPherson, of Halifax and Victoria, is commander of Ottawa.

Possible failure of engine telegraphs aboard Ste. Therese may have caused the accident.

Help Stamp Out Deliveries Extra Trip to Town Is Fun

Peter Bruton's NOTEBOOK

SPECIAL DELIVERY: A large parcel was taken to the city post office not so long ago and mailed to a business firm in Saanich.

After several days the firm received a card from the post office saying that there was nobody at the address when the postman tried to deliver it, so that it would have to be picked up from the main post office where it was originally mailed.

Again in recent times a city resident had a similar card saying a parcel from England was waiting at the post office and that although they had tried to deliver it nobody was home at the time.

The resident checked to see what day his home was supposed to be empty.

The post office people said they had tried to deliver the parcel on such and such a day—a day when, according to the resident, no fewer than eight members of his family and guests spent the entire daylight hours at his home.

After not a little fuss the post office agreed to send the parcel around.

But as the resident said: "I wonder if that really was the second time they came here with the parcel?"

WASTED WORDS DEPT.: A press release issued the other day began: "The Honorable W. D. Black, Minister of Social Welfare, announced today—it is with regret that I today announce . . ."

NEW LOOK: Works Minister W. N. Chant, a little "floored" by what he terms "a tempest in a teapot," returned to his office yesterday and promised to take another look at the replacement of ceramic tiles by lino tiles in the corridors surrounding the legislative chamber.

He told this corner that while he could appreciate and understand the feelings of those people who thought the floors should remain as is, the tiles had to be replaced and lino tiles were five times as cheap as ceramic tiles.

"But I will take another look at things," he promised.

Does that mean there is a chance new ceramic tiles will be laid?

"I won't commit myself at the moment," said Mr. Chant.

INSTANT ITEM: What mothers should save for rainy days is a little patience.

SOME LIKE IT HOT.

CONT.: The name of THAT book is "Tonya" by Gregory Boyington. Readers of yesterday's column will know what it's all about.

SAFETY FIRST: With all these preparations for building shelters for our politicians—both federal and provincial—the whole character of our election campaigns is due for a change.

Sooner than we think it won't be a case of which man you think can represent you best but which man you want to see survive while the rest of us are blown to smithereens.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: School will be starting soon and I won't be going back. My dad told me I must keep on with my summer job because the family needs the money more than I need a high school diploma.

There are seven children to feed and clothe—five younger than I. Dad isn't just being mean. We really have a hard time getting by. He was laid off in June and if it weren't for my cheque and my older sister's I don't know what we would have done for groceries.

I love school and have always adored books. I plan to keep studying and learning. It's been proven that a person can improve his mind and educate himself even if he can't go to school and I'm determined to do it. Please tell the kids who write and say they want to quit that they are throwing away something more precious than gold.

—MARY
Dear Mary: YOU have something more precious than gold.

scholarship and did well which would indicate that my brain functions properly. I can retain useless facts and figures with almost no effort. But when it comes to names my mind is like a sieve. Help!—RUM-DUM.

Dear Rum-Dum: One of the chief reasons people fail to remember names is because they didn't get the name in the first place. Listen when you are introduced. If you don't get the name—ASK. This offends no one. In fact, it's flattering because it shows interest. Then use the name in your opening sentence. If you use the name three times, it's usually yours.

Dear Ann Landers: Why do women think a man must be tall in order to be a good husband? I'm 5'6" and have been jilted by girls ever since high school—always for a taller fellow. I am 38, good-looking, and still a bachelor, although I keep hearing that there's a shortage of males in my age group. Why shouldn't a girl be satisfied with a man who is intelligent, a good earner, a non-drinker, a neat dresser, honorable and kind?

I've written to several matrimonial agencies and lonely heart's clubs but almost every woman who wants to get married specifies that the man must be tall. Why?—DISGUSTED.

Dear Disgusted: I have no answer, but I do have a question. Why would a man who is intelligent, a good earner, a non-drinker, a neat dresser, honorable and kind look for a wife in a matrimonial agency or a lonely heart's club?

There must be a good reason why you're still single. Short men get married every day.

Pre-Nuptial Parties

Mr. and Mrs. T. O'D. Walton entertained at a garden reception and tea in honor of Mrs. Walton's daughter, Miss Carl Palmason and her fiancé, Mr. Terry Mesher, whose marriage takes place this evening. Assisting the hostess at the party held at the Walton home, Glastonbury Road, were Mrs. G. W. McIntosh, Mrs. J. S. Davis, Mrs. L. Fuller, Mrs. W. Fahey, Mrs. P. D. Bishop, Mrs. Ian MacDonald, Mrs. S. E. Park, Mrs. Lionel B. Mason, Mrs. G. Bird, Mrs. Mamie Maclellan, Mrs. B. Burnell, Mrs. K. Briggs and the Misses Wendy Waters, Amy Walton, Alyx Toppin, Wendy Packard, Patsy Tysoe, Grania and Erica Learoyd, Caroline Clarke, Heather MacDonald, Karen Gardiner, Mr. Ken Bostock, Mr. Tom Walton, Mr. Ken Carnes, Mr. Paul Carnes, Mr. Gerald Band, Mr. Trevor Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. F. Cope.

A joint shower and swimming party was given for the bride-elect and Mr. Mesher by the Misses Doris Sumrell, Susan Mabee, Arlene Dunette and Selena Dunette at the Walton home. Gifts were concealed in a decorated wheelbarrow. Guests were Mrs. Daryl Mesher, Mrs. Walton, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Adrian, and the Misses Ruth Johnson, Vancouver; Allison Mabee, Dorothy Carroll, Claudia McLean, Audrey McLean, Risha Golby, Eve van Loosten, and the Masters Raymond Adrian, Billy Adrian, Terrence Adrian, Douglas Harris, Brian Harris, Bradley Harris, Ronald Maund, Raymond May, Larry Ball, Murray Wolfe, Gary Lindsay, Chee Chan and Bert Devries.

Thursday evening following the wedding rehearsal in St. Luke's Anglican Church, the affianced couple and members of the bridal party will be guests at a party at the home of Cmdr. J. S. Davis and Mrs. Davis on Pauls Crescent.

New Fashion Drama

HBC Presents Fashions Showing What's New and Exciting for Fall

What's new for fall and winter? the flare, the fringe, snapping out on suits, dresses and coats.

Colors with the zing of gold, vigor of green, warmth of brown and pulsating vividness of magenta. And, of course, black.

widening skirts, rounded silhouettes, pyramiding coats and demi-fitted jackets.

These exciting high fashion elements were introduced by commentator Adele Gault yesterday at the Hudson Bay Company's first of a series of fashion shows that continue until Saturday.

OPULENCE

The opulent look in coats opened the showing with Helen Beirnes modelling a black oval cape coat with black 'mink' collar. A brushed beaver turban in ruby glow shade complemented the ensemble. Doris Usher brought admiring smiles when she wore a Canadian natural mink stole with portrait collar over a flared skirt basic dress of wool jersey in deep brown. Designed to be accessorized with a flourish, the dress featured the new flair skirt. A side-swept slouch brim hat in tawny gold topped her head.

Furs played an important part in the showing, and Lydia Mawson was stunning in a black Persian lamb jacket with black mink trim. It was worn over a black wool jersey sheath, simply styled, with a fanning of drapes. With it she wore a furry mink mousie pillbox.

June Charlton's dark hair was a perfect foil for the caplet of white fox fur she wore with a black, double-knit demi-fitted suit—fashioned with Chanel-inspired neckline. Her swaggar hat was of black brushed velour.

Color in a fashion both flattering and versatile was modelled by Sybil Bateman. A pale grey knit Liberty suit from England featured a side-closed collarless jacket with notched waistline, and slim skirt. Black braid added accent, as did her black globe hat of velour.

FLAMBOYANCE

Florence Walther brought out the gay and flamboyant nature of sportswear when she modelled a magenta and grey plaid ensemble with wool fringed poncho top and magenta slims. A skirt in magenta is also available in these smart co-ordinates.

Magenta appeared again in a very smart little suit with pleated skirt and cropped jacket trimmed with black braid. A little dicker front gives the impression of a third part to the suit. Model Brenda-Lee MacBeath wore a high globe hat of black velvet to beautifully complement the bright suit.

Want to go bowling, or walking, or cycling, or just anywhere that calls for slacks? Well, treat yourself to a change, and try the exciting little culotte outfit modelled by dainty Patricia Knowles. Emerald green knee length culottes, with the ease of action of slacks and the look of a skirt, was topped with a matching jerkin over a striped cotton blouse.

BRIDAL PARTY

As has become traditional with Bay fashion shows, the bridal entourage was featured for the finale. Mother of the bride ensemble was worn by Sybil Bateman. She chose a spice toned sheath of wool jersey with fanned drapery from a bowed belt. On her head was a circle of velvet swathed in tulle and touched with a French rose. Piece de resistance was her little ranch mink muff on which was pinned her posy of flowers.

Bridesmaids, Doris Usher and Florence Walther wore soft apple green silk frocks with full skirts swept to bustle

The lovely bride was Patricia Knowles, dainty, dark and radiant in a paper silk taffeta gown re-embroidered with Alencon lace and styled with an oval neckline and lily point sleeves.

The skirt was pellow-lined for soft, yet constant fullness, showing to advantage the sweeping, graceful lines. From a coronet of taffeta and pearl misted her silk and illusion veil in three bouffant tiers.

Sponsors of yesterday's show was St. Ann's Alumnae.

Hostess was Irene Warren; organist, Margaret Wilms-hurst; soloist, Ruth Champion, who sang during the intermission.

Mrs. Jim Testamale was a blue and white floral nylon dress with blue hat and carried a bouquet of pink carnations and mauve heather.

The groom, son of Mr. A. Testamale of Vancouver had his brother, Mr. Jim Testamale as best man. The bride's son, Mr. David Gill, acted as usher.

At the reception held at the Mount Douglas tea room the bride's table was rented with a three tiered cake she made herself and which was decorated by Mr. Oscar Barrett. Mr. Fred Allen proposed the toast.

WINNIPEG — Preliminary hearing of a morals charge against Charles Spencer, 33, a former Winnipeg politician, was adjourned for one week.

REGINA — Fines totalling $2,500 were imposed on Charlie Shan Yee of Regina after he pleaded guilty to three charges of conspiring to bring Chinese immigrants illegally into Canada.

LONDON — Shipping authorities ordered extreme security measures to protect former president Janio Quadra of Brazil on his arrival aboard the Blue Star liner Uruguay Star.

ACHENS — Gen. George Grivas, leader of the Greek Cypriot underground fight against British rule, has signed a contract with a British firm to publish his memoirs.

OTTAWA — Commandante Michael Sörling, 46, of Rutland, B.C., and Kingston, Ont., has been appointed Senior Canadian Officer Afloat (Atlantic), the navy announced.

Plane's Familiar—But Who's the Pilot?

VANCOUVER (UPI)—The pilot of a light plane took part in an air search last night—for himself. The wife of the Nootka lighthouse keeper reported late yesterday to the air force air-sea rescue centre here that a light plane had skimmed low over the lighthouse on the east coast of Vancouver Island and appeared to crash. The air-sea rescue centre immediately alerted planes in the area. After an hour-long search, the pilot of one of the planes realized the description of the missing craft fitted his plane exactly. The air force did not disclose his name.

Alan Maclean of Painter's Lodge, near Campbell River, is a vice-president. Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau commissioner William Hawkins and Ian Ross, managing director of Buehler Gardens, were named directors for one year. A. N. Obesity No. 1 Problem CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI)—Overweight is currently the No. 1 public health problem in the United States as more than 14,000,000 Americans are significantly obese, a Louisville, Ky., physician said. "Yet doctors as a group have not assumed their full responsibility to fat men, women and children and have allowed reducing parlors and fad diets to flourish," said Dr. Irvin B. Perlestein, chairman of the department of medicine at Louisville's Jewish Hospital. Dr. Perlestein cited figures which indicate greater susceptibility to diseases and a shorter life expectancy for overweight people.

MD'S Doubt Sends Man Scurrying

A city doctor who had sudden doubts about what medicine he had administered to a patient suffering from stomach pains yesterday broadcast an alarm that brought the man scurrying to St. Joseph's Hospital. The physician said he decided to give the man an injection of demerol; a painkiller, and later wondered if he might have given adrenalin, a stimulant, by mistake. The patient, Albert Esallo of Port Alberni, was on his way home when he heard a radio alert urging him to check with authorities. A brief examination allayed the doctor's fears.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States is expected to resume atomic testing in a few weeks by exploding a small device underground in an effort to speed development of new tactical nuclear weapons.

Resumption of U.S. tests was reported by congressional sources as Russia exploded the 10th of its fallout-producing devices since it resumed testing two weeks ago. The Arctic blast had a destructive force of several million tons (megatons) of TNT.

NO FALLOUT
The U.S. test will produce no fallout since it will be exploded below the surface of the Nevada desert. It will be the first U.S. explosion since the United States halted testing on Oct. 30, 1958.

The explosion will be the first in a series aimed partly at increasing the firepower of the army and marine corps by developing more effective low-yield weapons for battlefield use.

ATMOSPHERE TESTS
Chairman Glenn T. Seaborg, of the Atomic Energy Commission, said the United States has no plans now to resume tests above ground. But he did not rule out the possibility of atmospheric tests later if Russia continues them. Seaborg told reporters during a break in closed-door hearings by the House-Senate atomic energy committee that

Garden Notes

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

Now that the spring-flowering bulbs are appearing in quantities in the stores and the bulb catalogues are flooding the mails, I think it is about time we had a chat on what to look for when you shop for bulbs—how to tell the top quality specimens from the not-so-good ones. Not that you are likely to be "stung" on any bulbs purchased locally, for both the locally-grown product and the bulbs imported from Holland are subject to the most rigid inspection, but even sound and healthy bulbs come in different grades and at different prices.

Size is a very important factor when you buy tulip, hyacinth or daffodil bulbs, and all other things being equal, the bigger the bulb, the better the flower. This is not true of all bulbs, for as I have mentioned so many times in the column, the largest bulbs of gladiolus and anemone are usually over-age specimens and are to be avoided. The smaller, high-shouldered gladiolus bulbs are very much to be preferred over the wide, saucer-shaped type.

The reason for this is quite simple. In daffodil, tulip and hyacinth bulbs, the flower is already formed inside the bulb—in fact, it was formed last year, shortly after the plant finished blooming and before the foliage ripened. Small bulbs are immature and may have no flower in them; such bulbs cannot possibly bloom next spring, no matter how well they are grown, and at best one more season of growth is necessary before they attain maturity and are able to produce flowers.

Again, with the biggest bulbs, you tend to get bigger or more flowers. With single-nosed daffodils, for instance, only one stem of flowers is produced, whereas the triple-nosed bulbs will give you three stems per bulb. They cost more, but you get more for your money. The cheaper single- and double-nosed bulbs are fine for naturalizing in turf, but for bedding work and for potting-up, only the largest and best should be purchased.

The anemone and gladiolus are entirely different critters. In these bulbs, there is no flower already formed—it has to be manufactured during the growing season. The "bulb"—and I am using this word in its popular sense here—is nothing but a storehouse for plant food, enabling the plant to survive through its prolonged dormant period and to get it off to a good start the following year. Once the plant puts out roots of its own and is able to feed itself, the mother bulb shrivels up and dies.

Gladiolus corms and anemone tubers, therefore, don't have to be big, as long as they have enough food in them to sustain the plants through the early part of the growing season. In this respect, they are rather like seed potatoes—there is no point in planting big ones when little fellows will serve just as well.

Another point of resemblance between the big, flat-topped gladiolus corm and the big potato lies in the fact that both may be divided. Just as a "ware" size potato can be cut up into seed pieces, so may a gladiolus bulb with more than one sprout be cut through from top to bottom, making sure each seed piece has a sprout on top and a portion of the root scar.

Don't forget the Victoria Horticultural Society's flower show which opens this afternoon at the Curling Rink and runs through until 9 o'clock tomorrow night, when many of the flowers and other exhibits will be auctioned off. In addition to outstanding displays of flowers, fruit and vegetables, an unusual feature this year will be three half-hour demonstrations of flower arranging by Mrs. Helen Wolff of Seattle, one of the acknowledged experts and teachers of floral art.

Expert's Warning

Free Parking Can Kill Cities

BANFF, Alta. (CP)—Freedom of the road does not include the right to free parking, an Ontario traffic consultant said Thursday night.

H. R. Burton of Niagara Falls said the growing demand for free parking in downtown areas can scuttle powerful economic control and lead to the destruction of our "older central cities."

In an address prepared for delivery to the annual convention of the Canadian Good Roads Association, Mr. Burton said Ottawa is already a good example of a city that has sacrificed a strong transit system to accommodate the national capital plan.

The result, he said, is already evident in "severe rush-hour congestion, heavy transit deficits, beautiful parkways converted to traffic arteries, increasing blight, the obvious threat to the central business district."

Mr. Burton said the cure lies in a return to strong central governments which must charge an economic rent for downtown parking. This policy would cut the number of employees driving to work by 75 per cent and help save Canadian cities from developing blighted centres and sprawling farm-consuming suburbs.

The basic parking policy suggested by Mr. Burton:

Elimination of curb parking and standing as necessary to avoid congestion; provision of off-street parking as long as users would pay a reasonable price for the space; the same economic charge for the convenience of drivers using whatever curb parking could still be permitted.

In Ottawa, the federal government and the National Capital Commission has "cast the die for a decentralized, motorized city," Mr. Burton said. They had envisaged a city surrounded by a green belt, dispersed government buildings, railways eliminated from the central core, a beautiful system of parks and parkways, and the removal of unsightly industries to better locations.

But free parking had been established on about 80 acres of hard-surfaced land, and the government had committed itself to providing the same benefit for all employees who want to drive to work.

Assuming logical future demands, Mr. Burton predicted these results:

A commitment by Ottawa employees to provide perhaps 100,000 parking spaces on 750 acres of hard-surfaced land;

The impossibility of operating a transit system at reasonable fares, and the necessary provision of bus systems at employers' expense to bring their non-driving personnel to work;

Night Parking Costs $5 Month

TORONTO (CP)—A plan to charge $5 a month for car parking overnight on residential streets was approved by the city's committee on public works.

Controller Donald Summerville said the fee bylaw is intended to make legal what now is being done illegally in many residential areas.

Control 'Scuttled'

"Intolerable" central congestion, a serious threat to business, impossible demands for new arteries.

Higher business costs and the loss of taxes from the land being used for parking, to a point where the city loses its capacity to pay for the services it must provide.

Although Toronto still retains strong authority in its metropolitan council, and runs a strong transit system, Mr. Burton predicted that the trend to free parking for teachers and provincial employees must stop there too.

If government bodies and employers—such as universities, hospitals, insurance companies and private industries—follow the growing philosophy of paying for their employee parking, these results could be predicted, Mr. Burton said.

By 1980, the necessity of supplying for employees alone 180,000 parking spaces occupying two square miles of land, or nearly $280,000,000 worth of space based on the most conservative estimate of land value; the capital and operating costs of the space would be $40,000,000 annually, to be borne by the taxpayer or consumer.

The necessity of supplying in this period 180 arterial lanes or 60 expressway to accommodate all the cars;

Increasing deficits to the transit system as more and more people drive to work.

Mr. Burton predicted, however, that if employees had to pay an economic rent for their parking—perhaps $20 a month—only about one quarter the number would drive, and multi-level garages could handle the rest.

Another Baby for Bing

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—Mrs. Bing Crosby (Kathy Grant) and Mrs. Bob Hope left their mates working in London and took off for some sightseeing in Rome and Florence. We'll be seeing Mrs. Bing in Hollywood ahead of Mrs. Bob. Kathy returns to Hollywood early in October, to await the birth of her third baby.

Reading Experiment

'Wuns upon a tiem' First Line in Book

LONDON (AP)—Eleven school children opened their books Wednesday and were asked to read this sentence:

"Wuns upon a tiem."

It was the first day of an experiment aimed at teaching British boys and girls to read and write a new way.

The 11 five-year-olds are in a special class at Roxeth Hill school in nearby Harrow.

"This is a very serious experiment," said headmaster Ronald Yeates. "We believe they will learn to read much faster this way."

The method is called the augmented Roman alphabet. It

"My only concern about 'King of Kings' said George Stevens, "is that it might not be a good picture. But in any case, I am going ahead with 'The Greatest Story Ever Told'." The two pictures as you must know by now are on the subject of Christ. Sam Bronston, producer of the former, to be released next month, believes he has a great epic. Stevens says of his picture, which he expects to start filming within a few months, "I will make it so that it runs for 20 years."

Human Swarm Japan's Worry

The spectre of over-population looms larger in the collective mind of the Japanese people than any other fact of their existence, as prosperity returns to the war-ravaged island and families proliferate as never before in the empire's history.

So says Tadashi Takahashi, globe-trotting secretary of the YMCA's hostel department in Tokyo.

Aid Industry

Cheap Water Sought

Greater Victoria municipal lies are seeking a way to provide cheap water to encourage and aid industry in the area.

The cheap rate would be applied to all organizations that use more than, say 60,000 gallons of water a year.

HOSPITALS

This would include Royal Jubilee Hospital, St. Joseph's Hospital and golf courses in the area.

A special meeting of the Greater Victoria Water Board in Mayor Percy Scurrell's office yesterday approved the principle of providing cheap water to heavy users.

TO MEET SOON

Representatives of the four municipalities involved—Victoria, Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt—will meet soon to work out just how the low rate can be provided.

John Haggie, treasurer of the Greater Victoria Water Board, reported that the rate charged to municipalities by the board—13 cents per 1,000 gallons—can be cut to 12.5 cents in future.

In fact, he added, the half-cent reduction can be made retroactive to the beginning of the year, saving Victoria $15,000 and Saanich $6,000.

A 23-year-old art student was questioned by police Tuesday in connection with slashing of paintings in Montreal Museum of Fine Arts. Man was also held in connection with a pair of downtown Montreal bank robberies. Damage to two of five paintings is pointed out by museum officials Francoise St. Michel and Edward Cleghorn. Full Investigation Ordered Into Navy's Nahmint Trip Defence Minister Douglas Harkness has ordered a full investigation into charges that the yacht HMC8 Oriole is used for an annual fishing expedition to Nahmint in Alberni Inlet. The Daily Colonist was told yesterday.

"The minister has asked for a complete report from the navy and we expect this to come in the next few days," an official said from Ottawa.

PAST FIVE YEARS
Sports fishermen have charged that Oriole, loaded with officers and specially invited civilian guests, has been making an annual "recreational and training cruise" to Nahmint at the height of the tye salmon run for the past five years.

It was only brought to public attention recently.

Said one well-known fisherman: "We were up at Nahmint for a week and there were lots of small boats with outboards

Civic Employee Sent to Jail

Fourteen-month jail terms were imposed in city police court yesterday on Hugh Gordon MacKenzie, 30, of 2064 Townley, on sentences of theft totalling $3,522 from Victoria Civic Credit Union.

Magistrate William Ostler sentenced the City Hall employee to 14 months on each of two charges involving $1,200 each, and six months on each of seven charges for lesser amounts. Sentences were made concurrent.

The magistrate also ordered restitution of the amount in the charges.

MacKenzie, who had remained impassive in earlier court appearances, broke down briefly during testimony of one of a number of character witnesses who spoke in his behalf.

"This is a distressing case," said Magistrate Ostler, "involving as it does a man who was a trusted, reliable employee of the city for many years; who was head of a closely-knit family and an exemplary husband and father."

"He is suffering an inner torment from which there is no escape, and his punishment

THE LUMBER
Western red cedar lumber is noted for its exceptional durability, light weight and beautiful color, ranging from almost pure white of the narrow sapwood to reddish brown heartwood. It is very easily worked, is free from pitch, takes and holds stains, paints and enamels excellently, and is superior for gluing. Because of these qualities, Western red cedar is especially adaptable for use as bevel siding for quality homes.

DURABILITY
Western red cedar is one of the most durable species known. Its heartwood is highly resistant to decay, and can be counted on for long and worthy service where conditions favoring decay prevail.

WEATHERING CHARACTERISTICS
Left exposed without paint or other protective finishes, Western red cedar weathers to an intriguing grey color having little or no sheen. It is one of the most stable species of lumber, having very little tendency to cup and pull loose from fastenings when exposed to the weather.

INSULATING QUALITIES
Western red cedar has the highest insulating value of all commonly used soft woods — another point in its favor as siding, and of particular importance when used as roof decking.

By DENNIS ORCHARD
BANFF, Alta. (CP)—Just 15 per cent of the 4,859-mile Trans-Canada Highway remains to be paved. G. T. Clarke, a federal government engineer, said Thursday. The department of public works development engineer said Quebec has only two more construction seasons before the federal highway agreement expires, but in 11 months as a member of the plan already has let $9,000,000 in contracts. The Quebec section of the highway is 388 miles long.

Most of the 10 deputy highway ministers who gave detailed reports to the good roads association convention said their spending on roads levelled off or decreased this year. Prairie drought, heavy rain and snow on both coasts, and fires in Newfoundland cut into provisions for new construction. Much of Ontario's new budget of $267,940,000 will go into work on Highway 401, the works department.

Windsor-to-Quebec border free way set for completion in 1963. Deputy Minister W. J. Fulton said Ontario has only 100 miles of paving left to complete on its 1,453-mile section of the Trans-Canada.

British Columbia plans to spend $103,000,000 on roads in 1961-62, despite the financial burden of restoring travel in the lower mainland. Fraser Canyon and Kootenays, where storms and floods struck earlier this year. In New Brunswick, floods hit the Lower St. John River Valley, the Nashwaak River valley and many townships, knocking out roads and bridges and throwing a $2,000,000 snag into the plans of the public works department.

Help Build New World Youth Urged

VANCOUVER (CP)—Canadian youth should pitch in to help build a brave new world, citizenship branch officer Dr. W. G. Black said Thursday. He offered the step as an alternative to existentialism, angry young men and beatniks. He said young Canadians are adopting a ready-made cynicism that makes a joke of morality and love of country.

Mineral Resources Not Enough

Transportation Most Important In Growth of Canada's North

EDMONTON (CP)—Transportation is the most important single factor needed to initiate and continue the economic growth of Canada's north, the second national northern development conference was told Thursday.

David A. Moore, a Columbus, Ohio, research economist and chairman of the panel, told 300 delegates that the enormous potential mineral resources in themselves are not enough to guarantee an economic future for the north.

ESSENTIAL PARTNER

Transportation, he said, is an essential partner of resources in any economic development.

"It is important," he said, "that adequate transportation systems be planned to encourage harvesting of northern resources, but it is equally important not to overdevelop transport." Ideally, northern transportation systems would integrate available methods and allow each method to operate to capacity.

MOST IMPORTANT

John F. Lynch, a San Francisco pipeline engineer, said transportation in northern Canada "is possibly the most important single element needed to initiate and continuously encourage sound economic growth."

He foresaw development of "giant" northern pipeline systems carrying not only liquids but many solids.

Peter Delgless, managing director of a British shipping firm, said in a prepared text read by Edmonton's United Kingdom trade commissioner, that any large scale development of the north is likely to be confined for some time to development of mineral resources.

Loot Recovered After Complaint

VANCOUVER (CP)—A woman's complaint about a rowdy party led police to recovery of a stolen television set and office machines worth $2,500. Police found the loot and arrested four men when they called at a home in investigation of the complaint.

Alma Mater Society

1,000 Students Hold Assembly

More than 1,000 Victoria University students flocked to the fall term's Alma Mater Society assembly in the university's new Gordon Head auditorium yesterday morning.

The meeting took an unexpected turn as three members of the students' council resigned.

Leaving are council president Karl Wylie, Malcolm Potts, vice-president, and Peter Chapman, president of the Students' Undergraduate Society.

Mr. Chapman is planning to devote his time to a business in photography. Mr. Potts, co-owner of the new proposed radio station, KITT, leaves to begin broadcasting early in October.

Mr. Wylie explained that he had been unable to earn enough money during the summer to return to classes this term.

NEW STUDENTS

The assembly called primarily to greet new students and brief them on university activities, began with a procession of about 50 faculty members dressed in traditional caps and gowns.

Welcoming the students were Dr. W. Harry Hickman, principal of Victoria University, and Judge J. B. Clearhue, chairman of the university council.

NEW CAMPUS

Dr. Hickman said the university hoped to have a student union building and a classroom block for 800 students ready on the new campus by next September.

Classes for all students begin Monday.

Scooting Shriner Sued

VANCOUVER (CP)—Two Seattle women have filed suit in Supreme Court here against a motor scooter driver and the Hotel Vancouver.

Mrs. Frances Sampson and Mrs. Dorothy Anderson, both 55, were struck by the motor scooter in the lobby of the hotel during the Shriners' convention last May.

They are suing driver William Taylor of Missoula, Mont., the Bagdad Temple of Butte, Mont., as owner of the machine; the Hotel Vancouver and assistant manager Reginald Allin.

They are seeking damages for injuries they claim they suffered from negligent operation of the motor scooter May 12.

At the time of the accident a hotel spokesman said the driver had been weaving around pillars and furniture in the lobby when the scooter spun out of control on the thick pile rug, and struck the wives of two Seattle Shriners.

But U.S. Cash Needed

Canadians Still Have Spirit of Adventure

EDMONTON (CP)—Canadians have not lost their venturesome spirit, Robert C. Heim, a United States trust company executive said Wednesday.

Mr. Heim said at the national northern development conference that Canadian investors are willing to take risks and display the physical and financial courage needed to develop the north.

But United States firms would continue to supply large amounts of capital for northern expansion.

Mr. Heim said direct United States investment in the north "is likely to follow for some time the pattern of recent years." U.S. petroleum and steel concerns would spend substantial sums in the search for mineral reserves and eventually in development and sale of proven sources.

He said the Canadian political climate, a trend to economic nationalism, had disturbed foreign investors, but basic confidence in Canada's future had not been shaken.

Foreign investors must retain enough confidence in the Canadian political climate to "take the big risks" required to open the Canadian north.

Prisoner Escapes With Best Wishes

MONTREAL (UPI)—Well, er, said the jail spokesman. It was like this.

A number of prisoners were being lined up ready to be released from Bordeaux jail. When one of the names was called a man stepped forward.

He joined the lineup, and minutes later left the jail with the best wishes of guards and the inmates left behind.

The spokesman added that, uh, later, a check showed a prisoner was missing. He was identified as Daniel Beaucage, serving time for fraud and false pretenses, and all the police forces on Montreal Island were alerted to hunt for him. Police even staked out his home.

Unfortunately, said the spokesman—or perhaps you might call it fortunately—it turned out that Beaucage was in jail all the time. The man who really got away was named Real Chartrand.

So today all the police forces on Montreal Island were advised to quit looking for Beaucage and start hunting for Chartrand.

Only Few Provinces Give Proper Health Education

HALIFAX (CP)—Saskatchewan Health Education Director Christian Smith said here Thursday only a few Canadian provinces have made "any realistic provisions" for health education.

Mr. Smith, speaking at a Dalhousie University course for Maritime sanitary inspectors, said Canada's public health authorities gave up service to the need for education but "there is not a metropolitan or urban health department in Canada with a planned health education activity under professional leadership. Only a few of the provinces have made any realistic provisions."

An informed public was essential to success, Mr. Smith said, "but most public health agencies do not reflect it in their activities."

UN FORCES BEATEN BACK IN BITTER CONGO BATTLE

We'll Fight To the End —Tshombe

The following exclusive interview with embattled Katanga President Moïse Tshombe was obtained in Elisabethville yesterday by Peter Young, husband of the London Daily Mail.

By PETER YOUNGHUSBAND

ELISABETHVILLE (UPI)—President Moïse Tshombe of Katanga told me Thursday in an interview: "We will fight to the last man—to the last drop of blood for our right to live as a free country."

President Tshombe told me this in a small villa situated in the grounds of his official residence here as mortar shell explosions and machine gun fire rocked Elisabethville.

STILL THERE

I was astonished when a Belgian settler told me that Tshombe was not in hiding as reported but was still in his residence—and offered to take me there.

I went and found the residence heavily defended by troops with machine guns in the gardens and armored cars in the road outside.

WON'T RUN AWAY

The president, haggard and eyes bloodshot from lack of sleep, said: "Did you think I would run away when my soldiers are fighting and dying for their country? We will fight to the bitter end and if necessary the last battle will be here in my home and I will be part of it."

STILL CHARMING

President Tshombe was still immaculately dressed and charming as usual, despite his obvious fatigue. He said he was prepared to negotiate with the United Nations for a ceasefire if they would withdraw from the centre of the city and refrain from attacking his troops and leave him to settle his affairs with the central Congo government in his own time.

'LIED TO ME'

"They have lied to me and have murdered my people. I appeal to the free world—in Britain, to France, to America—to all nations who treasure the principles of freedom and the right of a people to self-determination—to bring this terrible thing to an end."

Later, in a radio broadcast over a secret radio which is hidden in the bush near Elisabethville, Tshombe repeated his defiant decision to fight on.

TERROR TOWN

Yesterday I found Elisabethville a terror town. Shattered buildings and deserted streets, where bullets whine and ricochet.

Settlers have taken arms and joined in the fighting on the side of Katanga troops. Led by a tough nucleus of former white officers in the Katanga gendarmerie, who evaded the United Nations' expulsion order by hiding in the bush, Katanga troops supported by armored cars and mortars, counter-attacked the central post office now held by UN troops.

Belgian settlers who have armed themselves to the teeth and joined the Katanga army in the fight for Katanga's freedom include former war veterans and police officers.

Other civilians are organizing food and water supplies for the troops. All Elisabethville's hospitals are filled with wounded men.

I visited Katanga radio station, which is now nothing more than the blackened shell of a building, doorless and windowless with smashed radio equipment, furniture, telephones, steel helmets and boots all lying in a jumbled mess.

Outside I counted 13 corpses still lying in the grass nearby.

Harkness Called Liar In Row on Jet Costs

OTTAWA (CP)—An angry Paul Hellyer Thursday in the Commons accused Defence Minister Harkness of "lying again." He was finally forced to withdraw the remark but added: "I reserve the right to vindicate what I have said."

Later, the Liberal defence critic said the Commons can't rely on the information given it by Mr. Harkness.

The dispute arose when Mr. Harkness said the Arrow jet interceptor program, cancelled in February, 1959, would have cost $12,500,000 per aircraft.

REPORT RECALLED

Mr. Hellyer, MP for Toronto Trinity, said Air Chief Marshal Frank Miller, chairman of the Canadian chiefs of staff committee, had testified before the Commons defence committee that the cost would have been $6,800,000 each.

"How can we have any faith in anything the minister says?"

PULLED BIG BOOB

He said the Canada-U.S. agreement under which Canada obtained 66 American Voodoo jet interceptors for the RCAF was "one of the biggest

boobs ever pulled by a defence minister."

Under the agreement, Canada agreed to take over the manning of some Pinetree radar stations in Canada from the U.S. put up $50,000,000 toward production of Starfighter planes for the U.S. mutual aid program and spend $10,900,000 in Voodoo spares.

FIGURES QUOTED

Mr. Hellyer said former defence minister Peckham had informed the Commons March 2, 1959, that the cost of taking over the Pinetree stations would be $43,000,000 a year.

In 10 years, the cost would be $430,000,000. Taken with the figures of $50,000,000 and $10,900,000, the entire cost was $49,900,000 or $740,000 for each Voodoo.

Mr. Hellyer said the Voodoo deal will cost more than continuation of the Arrow program would have.

ELISABETHVILLE (Reuters)—White-led Katanga forces wrested the initiative from United Nations troops with a fierce counter-offensive last night. Control of the breakaway province was in the balance as the situation rapidly went out of control in bitter and bloody fighting between the UN and Katanga forces.

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—The United Nations Congo command said Thursday it moved to take control in Elisabethville largely because President Moïse Tshombe of secessionist Katanga province spurned a 24-hour warning to get rid of foreign officers of his political police.

It said the foreign personnel included:

- French expatriate officers who can't go home because of their part in the April generals' uprising in Algiers against President de Gaulle;
- Soldiers of fortune and other mercenaries;
- Volunteers recruited from among foreigners domiciled in The Congo who stayed on or returned to The Congo after Belgian colonial rule officially ended more than a year ago.

The report, signed by Sture Lanner of Sweden, the UN chief in The Congo, was received by the office of Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld, who now is in The Congo on an inspection tour.

First Step Taken By Both Sides On Berlin Parley

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. state department said Thursday there now is informal agreement between East and West on preliminary negotiations on a solution of the Berlin crisis.

This news provided at least a mildly encouraging background for a Western foreign ministers' meeting opening here Thursday.

Hailing Moscow's announcement that Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko is ready to meet with State Secretary Rusk in New York next week, press officer Joseph Reup said: "We are pleased that we can probably find out what is in the Russian mind."

EXPLORATORY

He described the Rusk-Gromyko meeting as exploratory, rather than actual negotiation on the German dispute. He said the United States still is sticking to its provision that actual negotiations will be undertaken only by the Western allies acting together.

Reup said he saw agreement arising from public statements issued on both sides.

READY FOR TALKS

Thursday's Russian statement came less than 24 hours after Kennedy said the United States was ready to open "serious talks" with Russia as early as next week.

'Family' Censure Complete

ACCRA (CP)—Britain's Commonwealth partners expressed fear Thursday that United Kingdom membership in the Common Market "would fundamentally alter the relationship between the United Kingdom and Commonwealth countries."

The twelve other Commonwealth members took this strong stand in a communiqué issued after four hours of closed-door wrangling at the conclusion of the three-day Commonwealth economic ministers' conference.

Canadian Finance Minister Donald Fleming, emerging from the long meeting, said "on the whole we are quite well satisfied."

Colonist Island Fire Story Sparks Official Inquiry

Fire Scar Warning To Visitors

The fire that ravaged 800 acres of scenic slopes of Mount Tsum may fulfill a useful purpose, a forest service official said yesterday. He said the blackened scar may act as a more effective reminder to visitors coming to Vancouver Island of the dangers of forest fire than any signpost.

The burn is clearly visible from several points along the Patricia Bay Highway and from the Swartz Bay ferry terminal.

Lands and Forests Minister R. G. Williston confirmed yesterday that senior officials of his department are conducting an inquiry into the Vancouver Forest District's failure to call a water-bomber out for a blaze which blackened the south end of Salt Spring Island this week.

He said the inquiry was launched yesterday, hours after the Colonist in a front page story described how a water-bomber sat poised at Patricia Bay runway while its pilot pleaded with forest officials for a chance to bring the blossoming fire under control.

PILOT CONFIDENT

Alex Davidson, the pilot, recognized as Canada's most experienced fire-fighting flier, said that when he first sought orders from the forest service the single Avenger plane at that disposal could have held the tiny blaze in check until a ground crew got in to mop up.

BLAZE JUMPED

Earlier yesterday Vancouver forest officials, under whose jurisdiction the fire-fighting task fell, were reported to have said the blaze jumped from 10 acres to 100 in a matter of minutes.

They added that the ranger on the scene thus reasoned that a water bomber carrying 900 gallons "could not be effectively used because of the heat."

But pilot Davidson had said that when he first spotted the blaze and reported it to the forest service it covered less than a quarter of an acre.

His statement was backed up yesterday by the wife of a Honeyman Bay logging company executive who sighted the fire from a beach on Cherry Point and reported it to the forest service office at Duncan.

'SIZE OF CAR'

Don Hammond, an official of Western Forest Industries, said his wife looked at the fire through binoculars "when it was about the size of a car."

WAITED IT GROW

He said quick action by the forest service at Duncan could have put men at the fire scene within 30 minutes by boat from Cowichan Bay and extinguished it easily.

By last night the blaze had covered 800 acres and forest officials said it was not under control but that it was "not out of control" either.

Fortune, 40 Birds Take Flight

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—An alert has been put out for a woman who is believed to be driving a 1961 car containing her teen-age daughter, about 14 birds, a Boston terrier and the $71,500 life savings of her husband.

Joseph Stephan, 71, a retired mining engineer filed a grand theft complaint against Mrs. Albertine Elsie Stephan, 41, who he said absconded with 60 $1,000 bills and 23 $500 bills. "I worked 50 years to get that money," police quoted Stephan as saying. "She left me with only $37."

He told officers he had been married seven years and the entire time his wife tried to get him to convert his holdings to cash.

"I didn't trust her at first but finally consented," he said.

Police confirmed his statement that he got $20,000 in cash from Jerry Skarecky of Scottsdale for patents for a gold mining machine and withdrew another $30,000 from a Reno, Nev. bank. Stephan is offering a $1,000 reward for location of his wife and recovery of at least part of his money.

Stephan gave police a description of his wife, her car and her various travelling companions.

City Leery Of Approval On Project

City council yesterday decided against giving qualified approval to the $1,600,000 centennial project chosen by its centennial committee.

But council did refer the plan to its special city hall committee for study and a full report.

THREE WEEKS

The move delays possible adoption of the scheme by three weeks and disappointed centennial committee officials who had hoped for enthusiastic endorsement of the three-part project.

The project includes creation of a $600,000 centennial park and square on Cathedral Hill, construction of a $1,200,000 city hall in the same area and the use of Craigdarroch Castle as a city archives and tourist attraction.

SPECIAL BYLAW

Council gave preliminary consideration to a special bylaw to create a Cathedral Hill precinct but tabled it until the next meeting.

Mayor Percy Scurrell asked council to give the centennial project proposal immediate attention.

MANY THINGS

"There are many things that have to be considered but if an immediate study is made of it I don't see why we should not come to a definite conclusion at an early date," he said.

He suggested that council approve the scheme in principle and refer it to the city hall committee for study and report.

OTHER PROJECTS

Ald. Millard Mooney, a member of the city hall committee, asked what other projects were considered by the centennial committee.

"I am very interested in this project, but I am also very interested in what other projects were suggested."

"I may like some other project better than this one," Ald. Rev. J. L. W. McLean said. "I would prefer to refer this to the committee without giving it approval of any kind and then hear the committee and decide if we want to approve it or not."

NOT HEARD ENOUGH

"I have not heard enough about it to know if I approve it in principle."

He said the proposed extension of Blanshard Street, to join with the Patricia Bay Highway, and the possibility of amalgamation in the future would both have some bearing on the suitability of the project.

Fountain Plans Progress Despite Outraged Cries

A contract will be placed with a Birmingham, England, firm shortly for the casting of bronze figures for the controversial fountain to be constructed behind the legislative buildings, Works Minister W. N. Chant said yesterday.

The work is going ahead as planned despite the cries of outrage which came from a section of Victoria's art colony.

Mr. Chant said it was hoped the $40,000 fountain, part of the government's gift to Victoria's centennial next year, would be completed by the May 24 holiday.

Where Warships Met

Ottawa Gashed

Ship Collision Probe Today

A naval board of inquiry will convene today to probe the collision between the frigate Ste. Therese and the destroyer escort Ottawa yesterday.

The probe was requested by the commanders of the Second and Fourth Escort Squadrons.

No one was injured in the crash. The accident occurred as the Ste. Therese was being manoeuvred into a berth alongside the Ottawa at HMC Dockyard.

The heaviest damage was to the bow of the Ottawa.

A five-foot gash was ripped through the quarter-inch steel hull plating around the capstan deck.

A sailor in the compartment at the time of the crash was uninjured. Hull mechanic Art Eastholme had just left the shipwright's shop below the capstan deck when the stem of the Ste. Therese poked through the steel plating less than three feet from him.

Only damage to Ste. Therese was a broken jack staff, a naval spokesman said.

DUE TO HAIL

Ottawa was due to sail on a "working up" cruise Saturday night. The vessel had just completed refit.

A dockyard repair crew will work Saturday and Sunday to repair the damage.

They estimate the job will be completed late Monday. Repairs will entail replacing a longitudinal "I" beam and one vertical frame beam. Hull plates around the damaged area will be cut away and a 10-by-10-foot patch applied.

Ste. Therese is commanded by Lt.-Cmdr. Arthur G. Murray of Toronto and Halifax. The ship is attached to the Fourth Escort Squadron, Cmdr. I. A. MacPherson, of Halifax and Victoria, is commander of Ottawa.

Possible failure of engine telegraphs aboard Ste. Therese may have caused the accident.

Is Christian Worker Higher Principled?

Does an atheist have less honesty or integrity than a Christian?

"Religion has something to do with honesty and integrity and so on," Ald. Rev. J. L. W. McLean told city council yesterday. "In my profession as a Christian minister I am often asked to give references."

He said it is important for an employer to know if a potential employee is a "man of no religion, whether he is a man of the Communist faith."

He made the comment during discussion of a move by Ald. Michael Griffin to have all references to race, religion, color, nationality, ancestry or place of origin deleted from civic employment application forms.

"I think they should be Canadian citizens if they are going to be employed by the city," Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow interjected.

The matter was tabled.

Three Exceptions to Ban

Violated Bylaw May Be Altered

'Area Free from Signs Now Free for All'

Finding itself out of step with its own sign bylaw, city council yesterday made preliminary moves to bring the bylaw into step with council's actions.

City public works committee has been charged with the job of reconsidering the sign bylaw as it applies to the area around the Empress Hotel, to set definitely what types of signs will be permitted.

The action was taken after council split over whether to grant operators of the Crystal Court Motel permission to erect a 19-foot-tall sign with 80 square feet of display surface immediately opposite Thunderbird Park.

Under the sign bylaw adopted by city council late last year, the Empress area was set aside as one to be kept as free of signs as possible.

ONE FACIA SIGN

Since then council has granted permission for three large free-standing signs in the area and one fascia sign.

Mayor Percy Scurrell, Ald. Rev. J. L. W. McLean voted against permitting the Crystal Court Motel sign but were outvoted by Ald. Arthur Dowell, Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow, Ald. Michael Griffin and Ald. A. W. Toone.

"If council grants this today, we are taking one more step along the road council decided we would not go," Ald. McLean warned during discussion of the application.

"Something must be done because of the fact that we have in this particular area the exact opposite of what we wished to have."

"We wished to have an area free from signs but what we have is a free-for-all for signs."

DEFEATED PURPOSE

"We have ourselves defeated the purpose which we had in our minds in setting up this bylaw."

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow argued that the character of the area has changed completely in the past 12 months and the concept of keeping the area free from signs can no longer apply.

"The whole face of the area has been changed business-wise. It is now an active area, doing business."

"We felt we must assist these people. The only place they can get their business is from the Douglas Street area."

Help Stamp Out Deliveries Extra Trip to Town Is Fun

Peter Bruton's NOTEBOOK

SPECIAL DELIVERY: A large parcel was taken to the city post office not so long ago and mailed to a business firm in Saanich.

After several days the firm received a card from the post office saying that there was nobody at the address when the postman tried to deliver it, so that it would have to be picked up—from the main post office where it was originally mailed.

Again in recent times a city resident had a similar card saying a parcel from England was waiting at the post office and that although they had tried to deliver it nobody was home at the time.

The resident checked to see what day his home was supposed to be empty.

The post office people said they had tried to deliver the parcel on such and such a day—a day when, according to the resident, no fewer than eight members of his family and guests spent the entire daylight hours at his home.

After not a little fuss the post office agreed to send the parcel around.

But as the resident said: "I wonder if that really was the parcel?"

WASTED WORDS DEPT.: A press release issued the other day began: "The Honorable W. D. Black, Minister of Social Welfare, announced today."

NEW LOOK: Works Minister W. N. Chant, a little "floored" by what he termed a "tempest in a teapot," returned to his office yesterday and promised to take another look at the replacement of ceramic tiles by lino tiles in the corridors surrounding the legislative chamber.

He told this corner that while he could appreciate and understand the feelings of those people who thought the floors should remain as is, the tiles had to be replaced and lino tiles were five times as cheap as ceramic tiles.

"But I will take another look at things," he promised. Does that mean there is a chance new ceramic tiles will be laid?

"I won't commit myself at the moment," said Mr. Chant.

INSTANT ITEM: What mothers should save for rainy days is a little patience.

HOME LIKE IT NOT: The name of THAT book is "Tanya" by Gregory Boyington. Readers of yesterday's column will know what it's all about.

SAFETY FIEND: With all these preparations for building shelters for our politicians—both federal and provincial—the whole character of our election campaigns is due for a change.

Sooner than we think it won't be a case of which man you think can represent you best but which man you want to see survive while the rest of us are blown to another

No B.C. Grant For City Hall

Premier Bennett said yesterday the provincial government would not contribute toward the cost of a new Victoria city hall.

SUBSTANTIAL GRANT

Mayor Percy Scurrell has stated there was reason to believe the city could get a substantial grant for the project.

But Premier Bennett threw cold water on this suggestion yesterday.

"We're not in the city hall business," he said bluntly.

Asked if the government would consider giving a grant if the plan went ahead, the premier replied: "No."

His views were echoed by Works Minister W. N. Chant, the senior Victoria Social Credit M.L.A.

"I don't think Mayor Scurrell is on very good ground for thinking the government will make a grant," said Mr. Chant. "It would be breaking new ground—such a thing hasn't been done before."

At the same time however he praised the proposed site.

"I approve highly of the site," he said. "I'm all for the development of that area, where our new law courts building is nearing completion."

Mr. Chant said that there had been talk that the B.C. Power Commission offices might become available for a city hall.

"Maybe something is possible there," he said.

SPECIAL DEAL

But government officials have expressed doubt whether a special deal for the BCPC building could be obtained by the city.

It has been pointed out that the cost of the BCPC building has been borne by customers of the power commission and that this would prevent the building being handed to the city at bargain price.

Nuclear Bomb Shelters Started

Survival Cost in Victoria Ranges from $200 to $4,000

The cost of survival in nuclear-age Victoria ranges from a cut-rate $200 (for fallout only) to the swank, heat-resistant, blast-resistant, fall-out proof, $4,000 model.

V. C. Heath, head of Heath Construction, said construction will start today on the first fallout shelter ordered by a Greater Victoria resident.

Not quite the first, Mr. Heath has already started work on his own shelter in his Brentwood home.

And results of a meeting by several Victoria real estate companies yesterday may see a new type of local improvement project in communities wishing to build communal shelters.

SKETCHY DETAILS

Details of the meeting are sketchy at present, but it was learned that several companies were discussing ways and means of building communal shelters.

Meanwhile, survival has become a matter of "no down payment—so much a month."

UP TO $4,000

"Not many people seem to realize that they can borrow up to $4,000 under NHA for construction of a fallout shelter," said Mr. Heath.

"And when Mr. Diefenbaker starts to build his own shelter, that's my cue to build mine," he added.

Debenture Issue For Girls' School

COWICHAN—Queen Margaret's School for girls is offering $200,000 in debentures to finance reconstruction of facilities.

A two-storey, concrete block building 140 feet long and 30 feet wide, providing residential quarters for four teachers and temporary classrooms in the basement, has already been built.

Other buildings will be constructed at the 40-year-old school as funds become available.

The current campaign of $25,000 school officials hope to raise 20-year, four per cent debentures in denominations of $100, $50 and $25.

School Closes

Population Shifts Shuffle Students

DUNCAN—School officials were forced to close one small school and shift students at several others because of unexpected changes in the enrollment pattern.

Arthur D. Jones, district superintendent of schools, said enrollment was "heavier than expected" at the Bench Road and Maple Bay schools while a one-room school at Bemberton was closed because of a shortage of pupils there.

Thirteen children anticipated for Bemberton have gone to Cobble Hill, Mill Bay and Bayview schools.

Enrollment of 105 at Bench School instead of 94 expected made it necessary to move some students to Cobble Hill.

There were 160 enrollments at the new Maple Bay school where only 133 were expected. School officials moved 21 pupils from the latter school to the area to Cowichan High and Alexandra Schools.

Six Grade 7 pupils were transferred to Cowichan High School.

Total enrollment was 3,512 as compared with an earlier estimate of 3,238, said Mr. Jones.

Enrollments follow: Alexander, 350; Koksilah, 81; Bayview, 58; Bench, 105; Cobble Hill, 178; Cowichan Station, 95; Crofton, 122; Duncan, 424; Gibbins Road, 78; Glenora, 60; Mill Bay, 58; Sahlam, 68; Shawigan, 84; Soames, 165; Tansor, 133; Westholme, 28.

New Home Sought By Comox Oysters

Sewage Sends Them Packing

COURTENAY—Oysters are being removed from Comox beaches to cleaner areas by B.C. Packers because of sewage contamination.

B.C. Packers are already moving oysters from their lease beds and the village commission has granted the company permission to move oysters from the municipality's property.

SIGNS POSTED
Comox, which will present a $300,000 sewer bylaw to the voters, Sept. 23, has already posted contamination signs in its newest park and one of the wading pool there is prohibited.

The sewer bylaw is the village's second in four years. Three years ago a similar bylaw was overwhelmingly defeated.

Now the village, faced with cessation of NHA building loans on unsewered sites, is seeking to install a gravity system which will feed to a pump-house which in turn will force the sewage through a pipe to an outfall in the straits 3,000 feet beyond Goose Spit.

1,318 Keep Peace

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada now has 1,318 servicemen working on peace-keeping forces and truce teams in world trouble spots.

Defence Minister Harkness gave the figures in the Commons Thursday night in reply to Opposition Leader Pearson.

Most of the men, 941, are with the United Nations Emergency Force in Egypt. The total there is composed of 838 soldiers and 83 airmen.

In The Congo there are 279 Canadians—eight air force men and the rest army. Eight are in Kashmir and 56 in Indochina. There are also 17 in the Middle East and 17 in other areas.

TOFINO—School officials here report attendance at the district's schools up some 12 per cent over last year with a total of 360 students.

Eagles' nests have been found to contain such items as light-bulbs, broomsticks and tablecloths stolen from clothes lines.

Inquest Adjourns

CAMPBELL RIVER—Body of a Vancouver man who drowned Sunday at Kyuquot was recovered Wednesday evening and flown here by B.C. Airlines so that an inquest could open yesterday.

Gerald McMunn was an employee of the Canadian Fishing Company at Kyuquot. The inquest was adjourned indefinitely without testimony.

Keep Promise

Victoria's Gerry Gossley Smile Show will board a bus and head for Tofino Oct. 14 aiming at keeping a seven-year-old promise.

At a previous show given in 1954 for RCAF personnel at Tofino some $200 was raised and turned over to the hospital together with the promise that the show would raise a further $300 for a hospital bed.

Shortly after the 1954 show, the RCAF closed the remote base at Tofino posing a transportation problem which left the promise for the hospital bed up in the air.

Determined to keep the seven-year-old promise, the show's cast of 12 has chartered a bus which will leave for Tofino on the morning of Oct.

14, returning the following day. An appeal is being made to Victorians to ride with the show to Tofino and lend support for "Operation Bedstead."

Reservations may be arranged by phoning EV 2-7792.

DUNCAN—Jubilee Street users who have enjoyed all-day parking privileges are likely to lose them if the city council accepts a suggestion from Ald. H. Mutter and imposes a two-hour limit.

The suggestion, along with another to provide an additional car space outside the post office, will be considered by the streets committee.

No Mile For Fly Fishing

CAMPBELL RIVER—Fish and game club members here were told that the recreation and conservation department has rejected their request that a mile of Campbell River be reserved solely for fly fishing.

The club was advised by recreation and conservation minister Earle C. Westwood that enforcement of such a regulation would be extremely difficult.

The club advanced the recommendation in the interests of salmon conservation during the spawning period.

150 Attend Conference

CHEMAMUNUS—Nearly 150 persons attended a two-day meeting here of the Vancouver Island Hospital Regional Council.

Meetings were held at the Legion hall, parish hall, Baptist hall and firehall auditorium and lounge. Meetings were also held at the hospital which was open for inspection.

Mrs. E. C. Cooley, of Campbell River, was elected councillor for the Upper Island group during a meeting of the hospital auxiliaries.

Crash Report Doubted

TOFINO—Search and rescue officials last night called off an air-sea search near Estevan on the west coast of Vancouver Island for a light plane that was reported to have crashed into the sea.

A report from Nootka Light-house earlier said a light plane had flown over the area at a low level was thought to have gone into the sea.

RCAF and private planes and boats in the area carried out a search, but found no trace of a plane. No planes were reported overdue in the area, officials said.

UN FORCES STUNNED BY KATANGA ATTACK

We'll Fight To the End —Tshombe

The following extensive interview with embattled Katanga President Moïse Tshombe was obtained in Elisabethville yesterday by Peter Young, husband of the London Daily Mail.

By PETER YOUNGHURST

ELISABETHVILLE (UPI) — President Moïse Tshombe of Katanga told me Thursday in an interview: "We will fight to the last man—to the last drop of blood for our right to live as a free country."

President Tshombe told me this in a small villa situated in the grounds of his official residence here as mortar shell explosions and machine gun fire rocked Elisabethville.

I was astonished when a Belgian settler told me that Tshombe was not in hiding as reported but was still in his residence—and offered to take me there.

I went and found the residence heavily defended by troops with machine guns in the gardens and armored cars in the road outside.

'WONT RUN AWAY'
The president, haggard and eyes bloodshot from lack of sleep, said: "Did you think I would run away when my soldiers are fighting and dying for their country? We will fight to the bitter end and if necessary the last battle will be here in my home and I will be part of it."

STILL CHARMING
President Tshombe was still immaculately dressed and charming as usual, despite his obvious fatigue. He said he was prepared to negotiate with the United Nations for a cease-fire if they would withdraw from the centre of the city and refrain from attacking his troops and leave him to settle his affairs with the central Congo government in his own time.

'LIED TO ME'
"They have lied to me and have murdered my people. I appeal to the free world—to Britain, to France, to America—to all nations who treasure the principles of freedom and the right of a people to self-determination—to bring this terrible thing to an end."

Later, in a radio broadcast over a secret radio which is hidden in the bush near Elisabethville, Tshombe repeated his defiant decision to fight on.

TERROR TOWN
Yesterday I found Elisabethville a terror town of shattered buildings and deserted streets, where bullets whine and ricochet.

Settlers have taken arms and joined in the fighting on the side of Katanga troops. Led by a tough nucleus of former white officers in the Katanga gendarmerie, who evaded the United Nations' expulsion order by hiding in the bush, Katanga troops supported by armored cars and military counter-attacks the central post office now held by UN troops.

Harkness Called Liar In Row on Jet Costs

OTTAWA (CP)—An angry Paul Hellyer Thursday in the Commons accused Defence Minister Harkness of "lying again." He was finally forced to withdraw the remark but added: "I reserve the right to vindicate what I have said."

Later, the Liberal defence critic said the Commons can't rely on the information given by Mr. Harkness.

The dispute arose when Mr. Harkness said the Arrow jet interceptor program, cancelled in February, 1959, would have cost $12,500,000 per aircraft.

REPORT RECALLED
Mr. Hellyer, MP for Toronto Trinity, said Air Chief Marshal Frank Miller, chairman of the Canadian chiefs of staff committee, had testified before the Commons defence committee that the cost would have been $6,800,000 each.

PULLED BIG BOOB
He said the Canada-U.S. agreement under which Canada obtained 66 American Voodoo jet interceptors for the RCAF was "one of the biggest boobs ever pulled by a defence minister."

Under the agreement, Canada agreed to take over the manning of some Pinecrest radar stations in Canada from the U.S. put up $30,000,000 toward production of Starfighter planes for the U.S. mutual aid program and spend $10,900,000 for Voodoo spares.

FIGURES QUOTED
Mr. Hellyer said former defence minister Pearson had informed the Commons March 2, 1959, that the cost of taking over the Pinecrest stations would be $43,000,000 a year.

In 10 years, the cost would be $430,000,000. Taken with the figures of $30,000,000 and $10,900,000, the entire cost was $49,000,000 or $7,400,000 for each Voodoo.

Mr. Hellyer said the Voodoo deal will cost more than continuation of the Arrow program would have.

ELISABETHVILLE (Reuters) — White-led Katanga forces wrested the initiative from United Nations troops with a fierce counter-offensive last night. Control of the breakaway province was in the balance as the situation rapidly went out of control in bitter and bloody fighting.

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—The United Nations Congo command said Thursday it moved to take control in Elisabethville largely because President Moïse Tshombe of secessionist Katanga province spurned a 24-hour warning to get rid of foreign officers.

It said the foreign personnel included:
• French expatriate officers who can't go home because of their part in the April generals' uprising in Algiers against President de Gaulle;
• Soldiers of fortune and other mercenaries;
• Volunteers recruited from among foreigners domiciled in The Congo who stayed on or returned to The Congo after Belgian colonial rule officially ended more than a year ago.

The report, signed by Sture Linnér of Sweden, the UN chief in The Congo, was received by the office of Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld, who now is in The Congo on an inspection tour.

Use of Force Shocks U.K.

LONDON (CP)—United Nations use of force to overthrow the secessionist government of The Congo's rich Katanga province raised a storm of protest in Britain Thursday.

The UN action was both defended and denounced in Africa and supported by India.

But most governments adopted a wait-and-see attitude toward UN military action.

'UNITY ESSENTIAL'
The U.S. state department in Washington expressed regret at the loss of life but said "the unity of the nation is essential to economic progress and stability."

Demands were heard in Britain that Parliament be recalled to take some action such as withholding financial support from UN military operations in The Congo. There seemed little likelihood, however, that Parliament would be assembled for such a purpose.

CONCERN EXPRESSED
The British foreign office sharply expressed concern but avoided the term "protest" in commenting on UN action against Katanga forces.

But in India, the foreign ministry said the United Nations was within its rights and was acting in line with a February UN resolution permitting it to use force to avert civil war in The Congo.

TAKEOVER HAILED
In Blantyre, capital of Nyasaland, nationalist leader Dr. Hastings Banda hailed the UN takeover in Katanga.

All Belgian newspapers condemned the UN action, and in London, the right-wing Daily Express declared: "Not since Hitler has there been as cold-blooded aggression as that launched by the United Nations against Katanga."

First Step Taken By Both Sides On Berlin Parley

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. state department said Thursday there now is informal agreement between East and West on preliminary negotiations on a solution of the Berlin crisis.

This news, provided at least mildly encouraging background for a Western foreign ministers' meeting opening here Thursday.

Hailing Moscow's announcement that Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko is ready to meet with State Secretary Rusk in New York next week, press officer Joseph Reap said: "We are pleased that we can probably find out what is in the Russian mind."

EXPLORATORY
He described the Rusk-Gromyko meeting as exploratory, rather than actual negotiation on the German dispute. He said the United States still is sticking to its provision that actual negotiations will be undertaken only by the Western allies acting together.

Reap said he saw agreement arising from public statements issued on both sides.

READY FOR TALKS
Thursday's Russian statement came less than 24 hours after Kennedy said the United States was ready to open "serious talks" with Russia as early as next week.

'Family' Censure Complete

ACCRA (CP)—Britain's Commonwealth partners expressed fear Thursday that United Kingdom membership in the Common Market "would fundamentally alter the relationship between the United Kingdom and Commonwealth countries."

The twelve other Commonwealth members took this strong stand in a communique issued after four hours of closed-door wrangling at the conclusion of the three-day Commonwealth economic ministers' conference.

Canadian Finance Minister Donald Fleming, emerging from the long meeting, said "on the whole we are quite well satisfied."

Red Build-Up

ISTANBUL (Reuters)—The newspaper Aksam said Thursday Russia is concentrating troops and building concrete fortifications along the Turkish border on the Black Sea. The newspaper said the Soviet military activity began in mid-August.

Colonist Island Fire Story Sparks Official Inquiry

Fire Scar Warning To Visitors
The fire that ravaged 800 acres of scenic slopes of Mount Tuam may fulfill a useful purpose, a forest service official said yesterday.

He said the blackened scar may act as a more effective reminder to visitors coming to Vancouver Island of the dangers of forest fire than any signpost.

The burn is clearly visible from several points along the Patricia Bay Highway and from the Swartz Bay ferry terminal.

PILOT CONFIDENT
Alex Davidson, the pilot, recognized as Canada's most experienced fire-fighting flier, said that when he first sought orders from the forest service the single Avenger plane at his disposal could have fielded the tiny blaze in check until a ground crew got in to mop up.

BLAZE JUMPED
Earlier yesterday Vancouver forest officials, under whose jurisdiction the fire-fighting task fell, were reported to have said the blaze jumped from 10 acres to 100 in a matter of minutes.

They added that the ranger on the scene thus reasoned that a water-bomber carrying 600 gallons "could not be effectively used because of the heat."

Fortune, 40 Birds Take Flight

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—An alert has been put out for a woman who is believed to be driving a 1961 car containing her teenage daughter about 40 birds, a Boston terrier and the $1,500 life savings of her husband.

Joseph Stephan, 71, a retired mining engineer, filed a grand theft complaint against Mrs. Albertine Elsie Stephan, 41, who he said absconded with $60,000 bills and $23,500 bills.

"I worked 30 years to get that money," police quoted Stephan as saying. "She left me with only $37."

He told officers he had been married seven years and the entire time his wife tried to get him to convert his holdings to cash.

"I didn't trust her at first but finally consented," he said. Police confirmed his statement that he got $20,000 in cash from Jerry Skarecky of Scottsdale for patents to a gold mining machine and withdrew another $30,000 from a Reno, Nev. bank. Stephan is offering a $1,000 reward for location of his wife and recovery of at least part of his money.

Stephan gave police a description of his wife, her car and her various traveling companions.

By last night the blaze had covered 800 acres and forest officials said it was not under control but that it was "not out of control" either.

Mr. Hammond termed "absolutely ridiculous" the forest service claim that from nothing the fire suddenly got beyond the stage where a water-bomber could control it.

By last night the blaze had covered 800 acres and forest officials said it was not under control but that it was "not out of control" either.
